Eliminate Panzers West of Ourthe

British, U.S. Armies Linked

By J. EDWARD MURRAY
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

PARIS, Jan. 12.—(BUP)—British and American forces joined today in a meat-chopper operation which virtually eliminated the last remnants of Nazi panzers west of the Ourthe and penetrated almost to the heart of the once-threatened Ardennes bulge.

The British wing of Marshal Montgomery's armies rammed east to establish firm contact with Lt.-Gen. George S. Patton's U.S. Third Army at the southwestern corner of the melting Nazi salient, southeast of St. Hubert now firmly in our control.

The Nazis were fighting stubbornly at key points to protect the still orderly withdrawal of their forces, now almost entirely east of the Ourthe. Whether Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt proposed to pull back the battered elements of his original 20 divisions to the positions they held before the counter offensive was not yet clear.

Winter Offensive Launched Along Broad Poland Front

By BRUCE W. MUNN
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Jan. 12.—(BUP)—Berlin reported today that the long-brewing Russian winter offensive in Poland had started on a broad front west of the Vistula some 120 miles below Warsaw with an initial impact which drove several wedges in the German defences.

Nazi broadcasts reporting the new Soviet drive from the long-dormant Sandomierz - Baranow bridgehead across the Vistula said extremely bitter fighting was raging and acknowledged German reverses in the first phase of the battle.

TERRIFIC BARRAGE

Russian troops and armor massed in the bridgehead won by the Red Army last summer mounted the offensive after a drumfire barrage by hundreds of guns, the Germans reported.

For several days the Germans had reported patrol and reconnaissance jabs from the Russian bridgehead preparatory to the push toward Silesia. German artillery had been shelling Soviet

In Grey North Vote

Every Effort by Opposition To Defeat McNaughton Seen

By FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA, Jan. 12.—(CP)—As the Grey-North by-election campaign shapes up political observers continue to speculate on the relationship it may have to a general election in the event of various developments.

All indications now point to a sharp campaign with the two opposition parties throwing every possible argument into the campaign in an effort to defeat Defence Minister McNaughton, government candidate.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, will speak in Owen Sound Jan. 25 and in Meaford Jan. 26 in suppor' of Air Vice-Marshal Godfrey, CCF candidate.

BRACKEN UNCERTAIN

Progressive Conservative authorities said it was problematical whether John Bracken, the party's national leader, would return from a tour of the battlefronts in time to make a personal appearance in support of Garfield Case, Progressive Conservative candidate.

The voting is Feb. 5. Prime Minister Mackenzie King is not expected to take any personal part in the campaign.

There is no official information on the point, but a good many members and officials are going

Speaker Delayed

G. S. Thorvaldson, MLA, Winnipeg, president of the Income Tax Payers' Association, who was scheduled to speak on "Taxation" at a Chamber of Commerce dinner in Edmonton Friday, has been delayed, and the meeting has been cancelled. The train aboard which he is travelling is 14 hours behind schedule, and is not expected in the city until Friday night. Reg. T. Rose, secretary of the Chamber, said he was endeavoring to make arrangements for Mr. Thorvaldson to speak at a meeting Saturday. Details will be announced later.

At Convention

Plan to Discuss Amalgamation Farmer Groups

Amalgamation of the two large farmers' organizations in Alberta, the United Farmers of Alberta and the Alberta Farmers' Union, will be discussed at the UFA convention which opens here next Tuesday.

A resolution sent in to the convention by Peace River locals of the UFA passed, will call on the executive to take "all action possible" to bring about amalgamation of the two farm bodies.

The resolution contends farmers will never be able to speak with one united voice as long as they remain divided into different groups, and the rivalry between parallel organizations is not in the farmers' interests, and does not further the cause of unity in farm organizations.

Other resolutions to be discussed include permanent memberships, one setting $5 as the life membership fee in the UFA.

Commissioners To Make Study Of Home Areas

Planned development of several residential areas in the city is being studied by the city commissioners and the city engineer, it was revealed Friday by John Hodgson, city commissioner.

He said that plans have been made for the installation of trunk and lateral sewers in the Windsor Park area, immediately west of the University of Alberta. This project is estimated to cost $120,000, and will be included in the 1945 estimates.

Other projects being considered were the provision of sewer and water to districts immediately north and south of 102 avenue, west of Government House, to 135 or 136 streets, extension of these facilities are planned for certain sections of the Hudson's Bay reserve, and for districts in the northeast end of the city.

ALL SOLD

Mr. Hodgson said that all city owned property in Garneau and other districts has been sold, and demand for city owned property is being maintained at such high level in desirable residential areas that

Home Loans Wait Court Decision

Until the Supreme Court of Canada hands down a decision on legislation governing the National Housing Act loans it is unlikely that the lending companies will start loaning operations in Alberta, Arthur Arnold, district administrator, National Housing Act, stated Friday on his return here from Ottawa.

He will confer Friday morning with Major General W. W. Foster, CMG, DSO, VD, special commissioners for Canadian projects in the North West, on disposal of huts and buildings at Dawson Creek, B.C. It is probable that Mr. Arnold will travel to the British Columbia town to make an appraisal of the buildings it is proposed to move to Edmonton to relieve the present housing shortage.

Jap Ships Attacked Off Indo-China

Naval Battle Looms in China Sea

By MAC R. JOHNSON
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

PEARL HARBOR, Jan. 12.—(BUP)—The Third Fleet hurled hundreds of carrier planes against Japanese forces off the coast of French Indo-China today, and there were indications that the biggest naval engagement since the battle of the Philippines last October was imminent or under way.

(Tokyo said about 90 carrier planes attacked the "Cochin-China sector centring around Saigon" for nine and a half hours during the day, and that anti-aircraft defences brought down at least 20 raiders.

Fifty carrier planes, mostly Grumman fighters, attacked "Saigon and vicinity" from 8 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Saigon time, a Japanese broadcast recorded by British United Press said, and from 3:10 to 5:30 the same sector was raided by 40 carrier planes which strafed and bombed targets. The Domei broadcast said Japanese installations suffered negligible damage.)

AUDACIOUS ATTACK

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz disclosed in a 22-word communique last night that Admiral William F. Halsey's rampaging Third Fleet had sailed nearly 800 miles west of embattled Luzon in the deepest American penetration yet of the South China Sea to challenge the enemy again in his own strongholds.

Provinces Form New Committee To Aid Mining

Formation of an inter-provincial committee on mining, which will work toward co-ordination of regulations affecting the mining industry through Canada, was announced Friday by Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines for Alberta.

The minister also announced personnel of an Alberta sub-committee formed to aid work of the parent body, which will deal directly with mining problems affecting this province.

The inter-provincial committee arose out of discussions between six provincial mines ministers and representatives of the industry at Vancouver last November, convened by Hon. E. C. Carson, British Columbia mines minister.

TO AID DEVELOPMENT

The new committee will work toward development of new mining areas, and other emergent matters such as taxation of the industry, technical personnel and m npower problems, as well as aiming at coordination of provincial and Dominion regulations affecting mining.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—(CP)—Tokyo radio said last night Japanese war plant workers may be placed under military discipline as a means of making them "defend their places of work to the last under an air raid."

Weather Improves

Canadians Step Up Reno River Fighting

ROME, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Canadian units of the British 8th Army, facing desperately resisting German units along the Reno river, have increased the tempo of battle in that sector at the southern end of the narrow spit of land separating the Comaachio Lagoon from the Adriatic sea, it was announced today.

Allied 5th Army raiding parties stabbed deep into enemy territory as patrol activity was stepped up with the advent of better weather along the entire Italian front.

Recent 8th Army action has focussed on the Reno river front to the south of a spit of land lying to the east of the Comaachio lagoon on the Adriatic coastal sector.

Here German troops transferred from Norway have been reported in action under orders from Hitler to maintain "at all costs" the Reno line—to which the enemy had withdrawn before savage and sustained attacks by the 1st Canadian Corps.

Todt (labor) organization members also were found to have been hurled into the German line as Field Marshal Kesselring's manpower problem apparently worsened.

Australians to Aid Philippines Fighting

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(CP)—Australian land forces, as well as Australian naval and air forces already engaged, will take part in the liberation of the Philippines, Francis M. Forde, the Commonwealth's army minister said yesterday, according to the Australian news and information bureau here. Mr. Forde said that until Japan is knocked out finally and ultimately "Australia cannot feel safe."

Report Allies Get Sea Route Via Dardanelles

LONDON, Jan. 12.—(CP)—Authoritative British quarters said today that Turkey had granted permission to the Allies to ship supplies to Russia via the Dardenelles.

No details were given, but the informant said they were under the impression negotiations had been handled mainly through military channels.

Turkey recently broke diplomatic relations with Japan, sending the last official Axis listening post out of the country and depriving the enemy of bases for Japanese agents who might report on the movement of Allied supplies through the straits between the Mediterranean and Black Sea.

The straits are the easiest and most direct route of supply between the western Allies and Russia.

Cigarette Thieves Given Long Terms

PARIS, Jan. 12—(AP)—Sentences of imprisonment at hard labor ranging from 40 to 45 years were imposed yesterday on five United States soldiers by a general court martial trying a series of cases involving the looting of supply trains and the diversion of cigarettes and other army goods into black market channels.

Sentenced to 40 years were Pte. Fred C. Jones, 19, Philippi, W. Va.; Pte. Edward N. Wagner, 22, St. Paul, Minn.; Pte. Thomas G. Harper, 26, Centralia, Ill. and Sgt. Leonard J. French, 33, Houtson, Tex.

Sgt. Merel A. Young, 36, New York City, was sentenced to 45 years. He was said to have sent home $1,200 in money orders in a single month. His army pay was $93 monthly.

Evidence showed that more than 70,000 cigarettes were taken by the five men convicted yesterday. This is equivalent to $7,000 on the black market.

Believe Japs Have Decided To Quit Burma

By PRESTON GROVER

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The British 14th Army's advance into Burma was moving so rapidly today it provided fullest evidence that the Japanese have decided they cannot hold it much longer.

Already 14th Army troops are less than 50 miles north of Mandalay and other forces striking south after crossing the Chindwin river are almost due west of Mandalay in excellent position to outflank any resistance on the west of the Irrawaddy river in that area.

Other forces which seized Akyab recently are moving inland as well as southward.

Southeast Asia command officials today for the first time permitted correspondents to write on their own responsibility that the withdrawal of the Japanese from all Burma within a reasonable period was under way.

The possibility remains that the Japanese will fight back and a peaceful withdrawal is hardly expected.

Temporary Truce Reached in Greece

By JAMES E. ROPER
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

ATHENS, Jan. 12.—(BUP)—The bloody Greek civil war will end, at least temporarily, at 12:01 a.m. next Monday under a truce signed by Lt. Gen. Ronald Scobie, British commander in Greece, and four representatives of the rebellious left-wing EAM, it was announced today.

The truce was agreed upon last night and will prevail during negotiations between the EAM and the new Greek government under Regent Archbishop Damaskinos and Premier Gen. Nicholas Pastiras.

Main points at issue between the EAM and the government were believed to be the disarmament of both the Greek National Guard and EAM-Elas forces and the early trial of Greeks accused of collaborating with the Germans.

Coincidentally with the signing of the truce, it was announced that a British patrol had entered Lamia, nearly 100 miles northwest of Athens and formerly Elas headquarters, without opposition.

Tram Strike Unauthorized Says Unionist

VANCOUVER, Jan. 12—(CP)—International officials of the Street Railwaymen's Union (AFL) have ordered a complete investigation by a union officer of the four-day-old strike of 2,700 street car and bus operators in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster, B.C.

In telephone interviews with Vancouver newspapers, A. L. Sprading, acting president of the International Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees, said the walkout has not been authorized by international officials.

Mr. Sprading also said that O. A. Rowan of San Francisco, international board member, will be asked to fly to Vancouver to review the whole situation. The international headquarters would not take any action until it reviews Mr. Rowan's report.

Mr. Sprading said "the main object now is to get the cars running again. The difficulties can be adjusted later".

Earlier W. G. Murrin, president of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, wired Mr. Sprading that "street railwaymen in Vancouver are on an illegal strike" and urged international officials to use their authority to end the walkout began Tuesday by the employees in protest against failure to obtain requested wage increases and improved working conditions.

Another BCER official said his company will not reopen negotiations with the strikers "while they are still on an illegal strike. They must go back to work first".

Almost half of the 60 public schools in the city were closed, with 24 schools shut down and five others unable to continue certain classes. Little more than half of the 3,000 students at the University of British Columbia were able to report for lectures, but university buildings were still open and classes were being held for those who showed up.

Full shifts of pickets continue their 24-hour parade around city street car barns, despite last night's heavy rain which kept all but the hardiest pedestrians off the still streets. Most of the pickets had to walk from their homes to their allotted posts.

The News-Herald said in a news-page story that "a move from an expected quarter" was imminent and might end the strike before Monday.

Pays Debt of Gratitude

PLASMA PULLED BOB THROUGH AT XMAS

By BOB HOPE

VAN NUYS, Calif., Jan. 12.—The other night we did a show for 700 of our wounded soldiers at the Birmingham hospital here. It's a wonderful playing-a hospital. You can tell your jokes and get the wounds treated at the same time. I know why they call it a "General" hospital. These guys figure the treatment they get here could only happen to a general.

BOB HOPE

Seven hundred of these boys just landed in California after being on Leyte. One guy was so glad to get home he wanted to kiss the ground. But he couldn't keep his head under water long enough.

I really went there to pay a debt of gratitude. This hospital furnished the plasma that pulled me through my Christmas shopping.

This hospital is a bunch of rambling one-storey buildings connected by eight miles of corridors. I won't say it's confusing, but whenever a patient gets lost, they have to locate him by radar and then send a Piper Cub to drop food. It's really not a building at all. It's just the lower half of the San Fernando Valley. With a roof over it to keep out the upper half of the San Fernando Valley.

This place is really spread out. They have eight miles in corridors. I don't know if you have to go a lot of walking to get anywhere. But this is the only place I ever saw where they have Burma S[illegible] signs between the wash-rooms.

Probe Agno Line

Americans Expand Beachhead on Luzon

By WILLIAM B. DICKINSON
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, Jan. 12.—(BUP)—American Sixth Army forces, fanning out across the central Luzon plains on a 20-mile front, expanded their invasion beachhead to at least 200 square miles and sent patrols probing across the Agno river only 90 miles from Manila today.

Armored columns striking down three of the main highways to Manila were six to eight miles inland by Wednesday midnight and it was probable that all three now were within easy gun range of—if not actually at—the Agno river line, along which the Japanese may attempt their first stand.

A front dispatch said one column had seized an "important road junction" south of liberated Umandy, suggesting that Mangatarem, 18 miles inland, may have fallen in the fast-breaking offensive.

JAPANESE REPORT

(A Japanese communique, the first in 48 hours, said the Americans had landed two infantry and one tank division and had advanced some distance beyond San Fabian at the eastern end of the beachhead despite "valiant" Japanese counter-attacks. "Heavy fighting" was said to be in progress."

(The communique also claimed that Japanese planes on Monday and Tuesday sank nine ships, including an aircraft carrier and one to three cruisers, and damaged 13 others, including a battleship, an aircraft carrier, two carriers or battleships, and two cruisers.)

The frontal advance toward Manila still was meeting only relatively negligible opposition and observers said the Americans probably could cross the Agno in strength now without major resistance were it not necessary to consolidate their flanks against enemy blows from the east and west.

STRONGER FORCES

Veteran jungle troops on the eastern flank of the beachhead already were battling the first sizeable Japanese force encountered during the four-day-old invasion along the road to Pozorrubio, 10 miles inland from San Fabian.

The Japanese were known to have strong forces in the San Fernando corridor north of San Fabian and a fair proportion of the thousands of reinforcements pouring into the American beachhead were being diverted to that area.

Warships lying off the Lingayen coast pounded away steadily at Japanese fortifications in the corridor and the hills behind. Ground artillery already ashore, including heavy guns, also was hurling shells into the area.

southeast of Bihain, house by house and by late afternoon the town was in their hands.

Meanwhile Patton's forces slugged their way north.

Advance elements of both forces were within four miles of Houffalize, key transport centre which the Nazis must hold in order to evacuate retreating elements still engaged in the St. Hubert corner.

British troops reported they had entirely cleared out the area west of La Roche-St. Vith highway.

The Germans have now been driven out of roughly one-half the area they occupied at the time of their deepest penetration of the American lines.

NO AIR SUPPORT

The driving snows that grounded the Allied Tactical Air Forces throughout the ten-day counter-offensive and prevented a petition of the Falaise massacre still were working on the enemy's side today, washing out all direct aerial support and hampering British and American artillery observation.

In the Alsace corner of north-eastern France, the Germans threw additional reinforcements into their Rhine river bridgeheads on both sides of Strasbourg and won some local successes.

The Allies still appeared to have the situation under control, however, although the French lost Obenheim, south of Strasbourg, and American Seventh Army forces were driven out of Herlisheim, 11 miles southwest of the Alsatian capital.

HOLD ALLIES' HOPES

The last fading hope of bringing Rundstedt's battered legions to battle in the Ardennes where they could be enveloped and destroyed rested with the American Third Armored Division driving down into the pocket from the north and U.S. Third Army troops moving up from the south.

Vanguard of each force were reported within four miles of Houffalize, turntable of the German pocket, early today and crowding ahead steadily through enemy covering forces.

The Third Armored unit launched its attack last night on a two-mile front south of Bihain and Petitie Langlir and by daybreak had advanced about three miles to the Cherain area, four miles northeast of Houffalize. At the same time, Lt.-Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army forces were reported fighting up from Bastogne into the Noveille area, four miles southwest of Houffalize.

CLOSING ON CORRIDOR

Houffalize itself lies between two wooded ridges running northeastward to St. Vith, and both American columns were believed about to break into the narrow German escape corridor, if they already had not done so.

Sizeable German forces were still fighting west of Houffalize, but it seemed probably that Rundstedt already had extricated a substantial part of the 20 Panzer and Volks Grenadier divisions with which he launched his Ardennes offensive on Dec. 16.

Berlin commentators already were writing off the Ardennes, asserting that Rundstedt's main objective—the diversion of Allied strength from other sectors—already had been accomplished.

ENTER ST. HUBERT

An Allied headquarters communique reported that Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's U.S. Third Army troops on the southern flank entered St. Hubert, which the Germans said had been evacuated, and cleared the enemy from Vesqueville, two miles to the southeast.

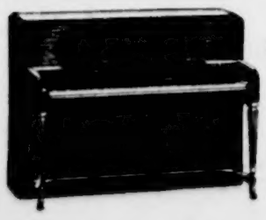

At the western end of the pocket, British troops stabbed forward seven miles in 24 hours from Nassange to the outskirts of Champion, six miles southwest of La Roche and 12 miles east of Houffalize.

The British also captured Ronhamps, north of Champion, and Grune six miles to the west.

Commissioners To Make Study Of Home Areas

this development work must be undertaken.

A considerable number of applications have been received to purchase property in the Windsor Park district. Several syndicates have made reservations on property in this area with the view to purchase as soon as sewer and water facilities have been installed.

No price has been placed on this property, and will not be set until a survey had been made by the city assessor to determine the selling price of the property as improved building lots. At least 70 parcels of land in the district have been reserved on which intended purchasers contemplating building homes costing approximately $8,000 to $9,000, he said.

NEED TO PROCEED

Mr. Hodgson pointed out that although there are 6,800 city-owned lots now in sewer and water, they are not located in districts where high cost homes would be built and therefore it is necessary to proceed with this development.

Surveys of the districts in which the sewer and water installations are to be made are being carried out by the city engineer's department, and a report on them should be available shortly.

CBC Regulations Come Under Fire By Premier Drew

TORONTO, Jan. 12.—(CP)—Premier George Drew in his regular weekly radio report to the people of Ontario last night charged he had been discriminated against by the CBC which invoked "idiotic and absurd" regulations to bar him from using a provincial network for an address.

He said a radio address to have been made last week dealing with the need for a Dominion-provincial conference was to have been transcribed and carried by 27 stations simultaneously.

"We were informed, however, that the broadcast could go out over only one station at the time arranged, but that the records could be used over other stations so long as there was a time lag of at least three hours between each broadcast," Premier Drew said.

on the assumption that parliament will not start a new session until after the by-election if, indeed, it starts one at all before a general election.

Parliament re-assembles Jan. 31 and, if the custom followed in recent years is adhered to, would then prorogue the 1944 session, which is merely adjourned, and start a new session the following day.

There is a pretty definite feeling in some quarters the government will want to know whether Gen. McNaughton is elected before starting a new session.

There also are rumors that his defeat or even a prospect of his defeat might be considered one of the things which would call for a general election.

McNAUGHTON PREPARES TO LAUNCH CAMPAIGN

MEAFORD, Ont., Jan. 12.—(CP)—Defence Minister McNaughton, Liberal candidate in the Grey North federal by-election Feb. 5, arrived here yesterday with his wife in preparation to opening his campaign.

In an interview given after he arrived, the general said the department of national defence came first, but that anytime he could spare would be spent in the riding.

"I am here to do a job," he said. "My job is to see that the army has the necessary reinforcements and that they have the best equipment. I will also see that conditions for returning men are good."

"While I may not be able to do it myself I will see that those who can, do so. The more I meet the heads of other departments of the government, the happier I am to be associated with them."

CLAIMS DRAFT POLICY HARMING WAR EFFORT

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Jan. 12—(CP)—Air Vice-Marshal A. E. Godfrey, retired RCAF air officer who is CCF candidate in the Grey North federal by-elections Feb. 5, said at a meeting here last night the government conscription policy was impairing the war effort.

"I cannot see how any country can possibly be successful in its war effort with an enlistment policy so confused as is the present government's policy," he said.

Replying to a statement by W. Garfield Case, former mayor of Owen Sound who is Progressive-Conservative candidate, that the riding was "not for sale" and branding Gen. McNaughton Liberal candidate and Air-Marshal Godfrey, as "rank outsiders," the air-marshal said:

OLD PARTIES "OBJECT"

"The old parties seem to be objecting because the C.C.F. entered a candidate in this election. They are not only annoyed, they are deeply worried. They had hoped to keep this contest as a little fight between themselves."

Air Marshal Godfrey said he had not met one discharged officer or man in any of the services who had been satisfied with the government's rehabilitation plan. He added that none had received any aid from the plan as yet, and that the whole plan needed redrafting.

Miss Agnes McPhail, CCF member of the legislature for York East, said the record of the Saskatchewan government permanently allayed fears of the farmers as to what the CCF would do.

STATES FARM POLICY

Outlining the agricultural policy of the CCF she said the prosperity of agriculture depends on the extent to which financial and industrial facilities can be brought under public and co-operative control. When this is done the farm will become an attractive place to live and youth will be attracted to the land rather than repelled.

SAYS CCF, LIBERALS FIGHT "SHAM BATTLE"

KILSYTH, Ont., Jan. 12—(CP)—W. Garfield Case, Progressive Conservative candidate in the Grey North by-election Feb. 5, speaking here last night charged there was collusion between Prime Minister King and M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the CCF, in the nomination of a CCF candidate in the by-election. He said a vote for either Gen. McNaughton or Air Vice-Marshal Godfrey would be a vote for the government.

"It is peculiar that the nomination of both my opponents was manipulated by small groups associated with the parties they represent", he said. "What is the deal between Mr. King and Mr. Coldwell?"

CCF "NOT INVITED"

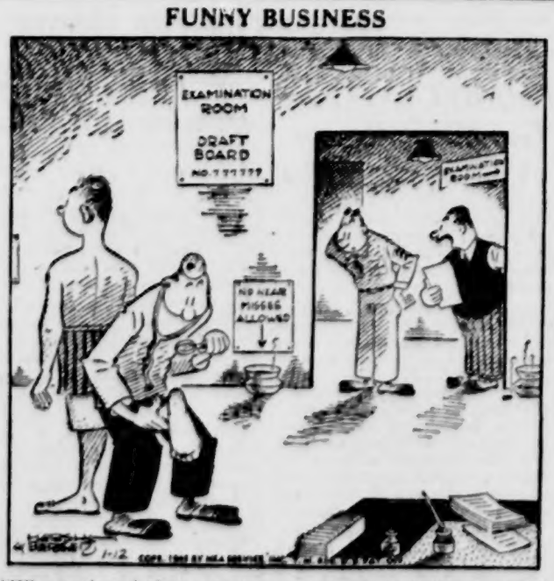

Gen. McNaughton had been invited to the riding, Mr. Case said, but the CCF candidate "came seeking the riding" despite the fact the local CCF organization disclaimed interest in the campaign.

"The reason is clear and well-defined. So far as the CCF and the Liberals are concerned, it is a sham battle. The CCF nominee is only a King decoy. Mr. Coldwell publicly declares and admits he came to the rescue of the government at Ottawa. His party supported the amended confidence motion and is for the old policy of expediency and carrying on with piecemeal, half-hearted and unsatisfactory methods of obtaining reinforcements for the armed forces."

"The only conclusion is that nomination of Mr. Godfrey in this riding is another CCF attempt to save the government and its candidate."

"I would not expound this view if the CCF had nominated a local man. But electors of Grey North know Mr. Godfrey is interested only in Leeds where he was (originally) nominated. In Ottawa he would still be interested in Leeds. That is only natural."

Planes Caught In Storm Safe: 4 Men Missing

TORONTO, Jan. 12.—(CP)—RCAF officials reported today that all 28 aircraft from the No. 1 Air Observers School at nearby Malton which were caught aloft last night in a sudden snowstorm which blew up without warning have been located but that four crew members are still missing.

The last missing plane was located in the Bracebridge area but two members of its three-man crew are still missing. So are two crew members of other planes which either crashed, their crews taking to parachutes, or making forced landings in various places in central or eastern Ontario. All four missing men parachuted from their craft and it is expected they will be found later.

ON ROUTINE FLIGHTS

The planes were out on routine night navigation exercises. Three found their way down through a hole in the storm to Trenton airport and 18 others made their home base at Malton where they were guided to a landing by radio signals.

Fifty-two planes were scheduled to make flights during the night but when the storm struck without warning around 11 p.m. the others did not leave as scheduled.

Radio signals were sent to the 28 in the air to head for safety as soon as possible but many were a considerable distance away.

Provinces Form New Committee To Aid Mining

named to the committee, and sub-committees are to be set up in every province to study the local mining picture. These committees will report to the main body at a meeting to be held in Quebec in April.

Members of the Alberta sub-committee are Mr. Tanner, chairman; C. Stubbs, secretary, Bituminous Coal Operators' Association, Calgary; V. A. Cooney, secretary, Drumheller Coal Operators' Association; John Galloway, executive vice-president, the California Standard Company, Calgary; Dr. E. H. Boomer, chairman, Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board; L. E. Drummond, Edmonton, secretary-manager, Alberta and Northwest Chamber of Mines and Resources; J. Harvie, deputy minister of lands and mines, and John Crawford, chief inspector of mines.

HOLD FIRST MEETING

First meeting of the sub-committee was held in Mr. Tanner's office Thursday, at which smaller committees were set up to discuss special divisions of the Alberta mining industry.

Dr. Boomer and Mr. Galloway were appointed to a petroleum committee, while Mr. Crawford, Mr. Stubbs and Mr. Cooney will report on the coal mining situation. Problems affecting the industry generally will be dealt with by Mr. Drummond.

Recommendations of these three groups will be turned in to the main sub-committee at a meeting to be held Feb. 16, when final recommendations will be drafted and forwarded to other provinces' sub-committees for study. Immediate investigations will deal with legislation, regulations, taxation and other matters demanding attention.

Plan to Discuss Amalgamation Farmer Groups

enlistment quotas for the Olds School of Agriculture, so some young people from all areas in the province may be placed in the school. A resolution from Plainfield local calls on the government to set up a university at Calgary or Lethbridge, to make higher education available to a larger number of students.

The new Alberta Power Commission will be asked to start study of rural electrification projects in the south, along lines similar to experimental work begun in Central and Northern Alberta.

Administrators of the Veterans' Land Act will be asked to rigidly enforce sections of the act which prohibit collection of fees for sale of land to veterans. According to the resolution on this subject, which has been submitted by Grande Prairie local of the UFA, forces are at work to have this regulation deleted from the present act.

Byemoor local asks that the convention request the minister of national defence give to returned men upon discharge a cash or land settlement grant, "with no strings attached."

Income tax upon farmers and "co-ops" will be up for discussion, when one resolution submitted will call on the UFA to oppose any attempt to tax co-operative surpluses, by income or excess profits tax, or any other form of taxation.

SPREAD TAX

Income taxation of farmers should be spread over several years, taking poor years and good years on an average basis, according to a second taxation resolution. In cases where crops have been held back from elevators due to a shortage of elevator space, and then the grain is all delivered in one year, for income tax each lot should be credited to the year in which is was grown, this resolution states.

Clairmont local of the UFA calls on the government to raise income tax exemptions to $1,000 for a single person and $2,000 for married persons.

Among resolutions to be submitted to the United Farm Women's convention, one will call on the Dominion government to exercise "greater discretion" in the type of men moved west for harvest assistance. Such help is claimed to be fifty per cent inefficient, and the resolution calls for a substantial reduction in wages paid for farm help at harvest time.

Major Sea-Air Battle Looms Off Indo-China

fleet are now attacking the enemy off the coast of French Indo-China between Saigon and Camranh Bay," the communique said. It was one of the briefest of 230 communiques issued by his headquarters since the start of the Pacific war.

Use of the phrase "off the coast" clearly indicated that Japanese ships were under attack, but whether the Japanese fleet had been brought to bay or a reinforcement convoy bound for the Philippines had been intercepted awaited further news from the scene.

MAY FORCE FIGHT

Naval observers speculated that Japanese fleet units may have sought refuge for repairs or regrouping at Camranh Bay or Saigon after the disastrous defeat in the second battle of the Philippines last Oct. 22-27, when 24 Japanese warships were sunk, 13 probably sunk and 21 damaged.

Japan was known to have several battleships and aircraft carriers, as well as numerous cruisers and destroyers, in fighting condition and it long has been thought that an American landing on Luzon would force the reluctant Japanese fleet into action again.

The indications were that American search planes or submarines noted Japanese activity in Indo-China waters and flashed a message to the Third Fleet, enabling it to pounce on the enemy forces even as they pulled out of Indo-China ports.

troop concentrations and columns moving up to the front, the DNB news agency reported.

A few days ago British United Press correspondent Henry Shapiro reported from Warsaw that formidable Russian and Polish forces were massed in the Praga area of the Polish capital in readiness for a winter offensive.

Subsequent reports told of Russians and Poles gathering hundreds of thousands strong along the east bank of the Vistula and in the bridgehead south of the capital in readiness for a sweep across the frozen Polish plains which with the coming of spring will turn into a mud.

LASH OUT ALL AROUND

The first reports of the Sandomierz-Baranow drive did not make clear its scope, but the Russians apparently were lashing out all around the perimeter of the bridgehead.

Close followers of Marshal Josef Stalin's battle strategy observed that he customarily initiates major offensives with blows in a comparatively limited sector, and then in drumfire order widens the front with successive onslaughts until a major offensive has developed.

Some sources believed this reported attack at the lower end of the Polish front would expand to encompass the northern part of the eastern front, largely inactive since the Russians struck into East Prussia and bogged down in the intricate maze of defences guarding the German homeland.

Mines Chamber Told:

Future of Alaska Highway As Post-War Tourist Route Doubtful in Present Form

Use of the Alaska Highway in its present condition as a tourist route in the post-war years was discounted here Thursday night by C. K. LeCapelain, Ottawa, inspector of national parks, speaking at the ninth annual meeting of the Alberta and Northwest Chamber of Mines and Resources, held in the Macdonald hotel.

"We must remember this road was built as a military highway. It is not one on which we can expect a great volume of tourist traffic in its present condition," Mr. LeCapelain declared.

"It was built to give access to the chain of airports under construction along the northwest air route. When the Japs entered the Aleutians, plans were amended to make it a second route of supply into Alaska in case the Pacific coast sea lane was cut off."

SEVERAL SPEAKERS

The annual meeting, attended by 150 chamber members and guests, was presided over by Lt.-Col. H. E. Pearson, mine chamber chairman. Speakers included Mr. LeCapelain; Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines; W. Leigh Brintnell, president, Northwest Industries, Edmonton; F. V. Seibert, president, Manitoba Chamber of Mines, and Leonard E. Drummond, ME, secretary-manager of the chamber and T. Dickson, treasurer, who submitted annual reports.

Mr. LeCapelain spoke on economic development along the Alaska Highway and its relation to possible future development of Alaska and the Yukon. He brought greetings from the national mines and resources department and from Roy Gibson, parks director.

Future of the Yukon is dependent upon mining development, Mr LeCapelain stated. He said in the past, only the richest prospects in the territory have been developed, because of lack of transportation facilities and difficulty of access.

"Many lower-grade deposits undoubtedly will be affected by improved accessibility," he declared.

Mr. LeCapelain told the meeting the Dominion is now exploring basic resources of territory opened up by the Alaska Highway in the Yukon. Soil, water, forest, biological and botanical surveys have been made, and an experimental farm has been started 100 miles west of Whitehorse.

MAY MAKE MAPS

"The government may make maps, but it is the prospectors who find the mineral deposits. Let us develop our heritage boldly, resourcefully and wisely," the speaker urged. "Let the future cry through Canada be 'Go north, young man'!"

Mr. Tanner expressed gratification at the interest in Alberta's natural resources shown by the mines chamber. He said Alberta is blessed with boundless mineral resources, and the province needed boosters to spread enthusiasm all across the province, so that when servicemen return, they will be able to carry on as they should.

The minister noted recent encouraging oil strikes at Jumping Pound and in the Princess field near Gleichen. He said "fair progress" was being made in conferences designed to simplify access to areas for exploration of mineral and oil possibilities.

Mr. Tanner also reported progress in a move designed to unify regulations and taxation in respect to the mining industry across Canada, which would tend to harmonious development of resources in the Dominion as a whole.

DISCUSSES AIR FREIGHT

Mr. Brintnell, discussing development of air freighting in northern Canada, urged that more consideration be given by aircraft manufacturers to freighter types of airplanes.

These planes, he said, would serve as feeders to global air lines planned for the post-war period, and if efficient enough, would develop remote areas to an extent now unknown. This would materially aid in solving post-war employment problems yet to be faced.

Recalling early incidents in the life of Canadian air freighting concerns, Mr. Brintnell said the entire economy of northern Canada has been changed by the air freighter.

He recalled that in 1926, the Red Lake region in northern Ontario was opened up by air transportation and became the most active gold-producing activity of its time. Today, the district is still important as a gold producer, and transportation is still by air.

The Great Bear Lake pitchblende deposits, richest in the world, were staked on an airplane trip and planes now transport radium ore to railhead for shipment, Mr. Brintnell stated. He said air freighters frequently open up new country to access by road and rail, as towns and industries spring up and are joined to existing transportation facilities as they expand in importance.

DIRECTORS ELECTED

Eight directors, each to serve for a two-year period, were elected at the meeting. Those named were W. D. King, deputy minister of trade and industry in the Alberta government; W. Grierson; W. R. "Wop" May; R. W. Hamilton; B. W. Pitfield; M. Hamilton; Ed. J. Smith, and W. G. C. Simpson.

Head-table guests at a banquet preceding the meeting included Mr. Brintnell; R. B. Streeper, American consul in Edmonton; Air Vice-Marshal T. A. Lawrence; Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, CMG, DSO, ED, special commissioner, northwest defence projects; Mayor John W. Fry; Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen; Lt.-Col. Pearson; Mr. Tanner; Mr. LeCapelain; Hon. W. A. Fallow, acting premier and minister of public works; Mr. Seibert, who brought greetings from the Manitoba mines chamber; W. G. Cowie, acting industrial commissioner, Canadian Pacific Railway, Winnipeg; James Walker, president, Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, and C. B. Jacox, vice-president of the mines chamber and vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Vast Antarctic Has No Future Rotarians Told

There is no future for the Antarctic from a commercial standpoint in the opinion of Major Allan Innes-Taylor, head of the Arctic training school at the Namao airport, but the region is important from the point of meteorology.

"Only when we know the weather of the Antarctic continent will we be able to forecast seasons and weather of the world on a long range basis," he told members of the Rotary club when he spoke at their luncheon meeting Thursday noon.

A Canadian in the United States Army, Major Innes-Taylor was a member of the Admiral Byrd Antarctic expeditions, and told Rotarians interesting facts about the continent.

SEVERE TEMPERATURES

He said that temperatures there are more severe and prolonged than in the Arctic because it is a vast continent with an area of 5,500,000 square miles and the latter is a series of islands.

Ninety per cent of the area is sheathed in snow as deep as 10,000 feet and there are no inhabitants. There are mountains and one known active volcano, the speaker said, and it has the largest coal area in the world—200,000 square miles of poor-grade coal.

An interesting feature of the region brought out by Major Innes-Taylor is the fact that there are no rivers of water, but there are long crevices down which winds rush at 50 to 100 miles per hour.

"It is a place for geographers, geologists and for research in certain fields of medicine," he said, "but it is most important because it is the last place left about which almost nothing is known."

Labor May Build New Temple Here

Representatives of the 46 local unions affiliated to the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council, at a meeting held Thursday night at the Labor Hall, appointed a committee to draw plans, estimate costs of construction, and report on the possibilities of raising a minimum of $50,000 to erect a Labor Temple here.

This action was taken after a statement made by Ald. Sidney Parsons, president of the Trades and Labor Council, that the present home of labor in the city would be demolished at the end of March. It had not been possible to rent suitable quarters, nor were there any suitable buildings for sale within the financial ability of the council to purchase.

It was suggested by Alfred Farmilo, secretary of the Trade and Labor Council, that, if the building project was decided on, a Labor Temple company be formed, and that non-interest bearing shares of $10 par value be issued to unions affiliated with the Trades and Labor Council, and to union members.

Ald. Parsons said that, if the project was proceeded with, the structure, when completed should be debt free. He asked for the co-operation of all trade unionists.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"I didn't find any jewelry or money but I got a basket of coal."

Daughter of British War Bride Excited Over First Chocolates

Eyes wide open with excitement, little Wenda Cosette, five-year-old daughter of Mrs. W. J. Ross, English war bride, and Pte. Ross, with the Canadian Army Overseas, stared at a box of chocolates handed to her by a Red Cross worker at the CNR station in Edmonton late Thursday evening.

"Wenda," her mother explained, "has never seen a chocolate in her life." After the first shock of seeing the box filled with its delicate brown contents, the child made an effort to frantically tear apart the cellophane covering, when her mother stopped her, and told her in a polite English accent that she "must behave."

Mrs. Ross, with her two children, Wenda Cosette, five and Ian, seven months, was among a number of British war brides who arrived on a CNR train shortly after 10 p.m. Thursday. Three are to make their homes in Edmonton, and at least seven are going on to other points in Alberta.

Mrs. Ross with the two children is visiting Edmonton briefly before going on to Lacombe where she will reside with her father and mother in law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ross.

AT STATION

PO. Herbert George Warring, RCAF, was at the station to meet his wife, Lillian. PO. Warring was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Bertha Warring, 11409 71 street, with whom the couple will live for some time. He is on leave after serving two years overseas. He expects to report to Winnipeg shortly for further posting. His wife, 22 years old, has brown eyes and blond hair, and she is from Wortheringsett, Suffolk county. They met one another at a dance.

Mrs. Joseph Kellner, 23-year-old wife of FO. Kellner, RCAF, 9907 86 avenue, travelling with her baby daughter, June, was met at the station by her husband. FO. Kellner is on leave in Edmonton from overseas, where he has spent two and one-half years. Mrs. Kellner is from Yorkshire.

Mrs. J. Lyall Hunter stepped from the train and was greeted by her husband, Capt. J. L. Hunter, PPCLI, a Canadian service man.

Mrs. Hunter threw her arms around Mr. and Mrs. J. Hunter, her father and mother-in-law, and said "Hi mum and dad." Mr. and Mrs. Hunter reside at 11838 101 street.

The English bride, who before her marriage was Miss Doreen Percival, is a graduate nurse. She is from Hove, Sussex.

Capt. Hunter spent four and one half years overseas, and arrived back just before Christmas this year. They have been married for two years.

Mrs. Peter Kalewaska, stopping off in Edmonton until Friday, was met at the station by her husband, a former Royal Canadian Engineers man with the rank of sapper. He is now discharged from the army. Mrs. Kalewaska was formerly Miss Allson McIntyre. They will make their home at Thorhild.

Six and one-half months' old Rose Walker, in the arms of her mother, Mrs. Harry Walker, cried quietly in the fresh wintry air at the station. A Red Cross girl took the baby and soothed her to sleep. Mrs. Walker's husband, Pte. Harry Walker, is with the Canadian Army in Belgium. Mrs. Walker is from London, and expects to make her home with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Walker, Fairview. She said of Canada, "it is very white, but I do not feel the cold." A small calico toy was given to her in Eastern Canada by a stranger, for the baby.

Mrs. Louis Aide of Kent, wife of FO. L. L. Aide, RCAF, overseas, was greeted at the station by her sisters-in-law, Mrs. C. H. Peterson, Miss Margaret Aide and Miss Amy Aide. The latter three are from Edmonton, and Mrs. Aide will visit with them briefly, before proceeding to Hardisty on Friday.

The war brides, all a little shy, excited and tired, were met at the station by Robert Muir, secretary-manager of the Red Cross here; Mrs. H. G. Macdonald, Mrs. T. H. Field, Mrs. D. E. Cameron and Mrs. J. C. Jefferson, members of the official welcoming home committee for the Red Cross.

AT STATION

They were assisted by members of the Red Cross Corps detachment, headed by Mrs. R. Harrison. Mrs. R. C. J. de Saige and Mrs. A. L. Stroyan of Vancouver are conducting the other war brides from Edmonton to various western points.

Among others who were expected to arrive were Mrs. Priscilla Burkholder, and her son, Clare, who are to take up residence in Edmonton; Mrs. R. Lund, of Mirror; and Mrs. Patricia Ferguson, wife of Gunner W. E. Ferguson, who with her small son, Keith, is going to Blackfalds.

Driver of Car Is Charged in Court

Alex Skarliki, 10157 100A street, arrested Wednesday afternoon after being discharged from the Royal Alexandra hospital, where he and four other persons were taken after an auto accident early Tuesday morning, was formally charged with manslaughter before Magistrate Harold L. Hawe, K.C., Thursday. The charge arose as a result of the death of Walter Bellman, one of the party injured as a result of the accident.

Skarliki was released late Thursday afternoon after he had succeeded in raising bail of $10,000.

After identification of Bellman's body at the Howard and McBride funeral home Thursday morning, the inquiry into the death was adjourned to Jan. 31.

Mountglen "Y" Holds Second Annual Meet

"Actually our Edmonton YMCA is a partnership involving the community, the host of volunteers who serve on committees or provide leadership, the secretaries and the youth in whose interests the partnership is maintained," said Clark Ready, general secretary of the Edmonton YMCA. He was addressing the second annual meeting of the Mountglen Community YMCA held in Westmount Community hall on Thursday evening. His subject was "The YMCA—a Partnership."

Mr. Ready has had many years' experience as a YMCA secretary in Montreal, Quebec City, Saint John, N.B., and London, Ont., and knows the world-wide influence of the movement as a partnership of youth and adults building finer communities.

FUTURE ASSOCIATION

The association of the future will seek to be a fellowship of persons who, with growing vision, glimpse a future of good will, co-operation and spiritual progress. It will be a participating fellowship, sharing in planning and operation, the speaker said.

The logic of events points to a fellowship of both sexes, to a communion of interests, to a partnership of men and women, boys and girls in the great task of building a Christian world together, Mr. Ready stated. The centennial of the YMCA was marked in June, 1944, and we are now facing a second century which will be of service to youth, the speaker declared.

John W. Day, chairman of the board of management, in his annual report, gave a resume of the work during the year. In June, 1944, a display was held in Westglen auditorium in which 150 boys and girls took part, and which was witnessed by an overflow audience estimated at 700 persons. The display consisted of calisthenics, marching and folk dancing by girls of all ages, and boxing, tumbling and parallel bars by the boys as well as several musical numbers.

Summer camps covered a period of four weeks from July 31 to Aug. 26 with a carnival held at the close of the camp.

COMMITTEES REPORT

Brief reports were given by S. O. Ewing, chairman, Boys' Work Committee; Mrs. Fred Young, chairman, Girls' Work Committee; and T. G. Morris, treasurer, in his report showed that receipts were $3,775, all of which was paid out in expenses.

Community singing was led by Harold Sprague; Jack Fowler, member, intermediate leaders' corps, Central YMCA, played a violin solo.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Calgary Captain Easily Fools Japs

NEW DELHI, Jan. 12.—(CP-Reuters)—Capt. W. A. H. Law, Calgary, of the Canadian Armored Corps, one of a party of Canadian officers engaging in the operations of the Burma front to gain knowledge of jungle fighting, discovered how easily the Japs can be outwitted when he was captured after his tank was knocked out on the Imphal Road in North Burma.

Making a short cup through the jungle towards his base, he was held up by two Japs who took him prisoner.

As they marched him along a jungle track, one in front and one behind, Capt. Law seized his opportunity to tackle the man behind him and threw him down an incline. While the leading man walked on unaware of what happened, Capt. Law escaped into the jungle and reached headquarters.

Capt. Law's next-of-kin is his wife, who lives at Calgary.

The pilot, PO. T. H. Perley-Martin of Vancouver, was killed instantly. Other members of the crew were PO. G. R. Bernhardt of Galt, Ont., PO. G. Greenburg of Timmins, Ont., and LAC W. C. Holt of Allandale, Ont. Bernhardt fractured both legs and Greenburg suffered a broken nose, while Holt escaped with minor injuries.

PO. Perley-Martin's body was sent to Vancouver Wednesday for burial.

Admirals Speak

Danger of Robot Attacks On U.S. Is Again Stressed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. — (AP)—Admiral Jonas H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the United States Atlantic fleet, renewed yesterday his warning of danger of robot bomb attacks.

"In my opinion such an attack is possible and feasible," he said in an address prepared for broadcast.

The admiral did not, however, repeat his news conference statement of last Monday that it is "probable" the buzz bombs will fall on New York and other Atlantic ports in the next 30 to 60 days.

"My recent warning on German robot bombs was in keeping with my ideas of reasonable precautionary measures of the defence of our eastern approaches . . . When I say the threat exists, I mean there is a chance that we may be called upon to stop an attack from enemy seaborne apparatus—and that is my job and the job of the Atlantic fleet."

Speaking on the same program with Admiral Ingram was Admiral of the Fleet Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, who asserted that 1945 is "a critical year in our war against Japan."

In an address made public by the navy department, Admiral Nimitz said what remains of the enemy's "stolen empire" is in peril.

"Now we may expect our desperate enemy to fight back bitterly in order to stave off final defeat," he added.

Snow Clearance

The new equipment now employed by the city to clear snow off the streets appears to be working efficiently and the civic authorities are to be commended for their enterprise in putting the device into operation.

The suggestion has been made, however, and it is endorsed here, that provision should be made for keeping certain streets at certain hours clear of parked cars so that the scoop can operate down the whole length of a block without interruption.

It would be a simple matter to work out a schedule showing certain areas to be cleared at certain definite times. These times and areas could be announced in the newspapers and over the air so that car owners could avoid parking, for short intervals, in the pathway of the cleaning machine.

This arrangement would surely add to the efficiency of the process.

Hospital Bus Service

The present bus service to the University Hospital is totally inadequate. Its inadequacy will increase when the military wing is completed and when the projected nurses' home is built.

On week days the service is only given during a short period in the afternoon. On Sundays there is no service at all. Yet Sunday is the favored visiting day and hundreds of relatives and friends are forced to walk, unnecessarily, through snow and sometimes sub-zero temperatures to perform their errands of mercy.

It is probably true that the hospital is desirous of curtailing visiting as much as possible. And that view is understandable.

But it is essential to consider the problen from the standpoint of those devoted women who, month in and month out, visit the hospitals, particularly the military cases, carrying good cheer and comforts and contributing inestimably to the morale of the patients.

It is most unfair that these women, who assume this necessary duty in addition to many other kinds of war work, should be forced to walk a distance which approximates close to half a mile.

To include the University Hospital on the regular bus route would interfere only slightly with present schedules. The additional costs of operation would be infinitesimal.

It would be a charitable and kindly act if the city would consider this extension at the earliest possible moment.

Not So Dream-Like Now

A highway running from Alaska to the Argentine was a motorist's dream for years before the war put all such tourist projects on the shelf. Paradoxically, the war has done more than all the pre-war discussion to bring this particular project out of the realm of speculative futurity.

The construction of the Alaska highway has not only supplied one of the links in this proposed undertaking, but has bridged one of the gaps which made the scheme look doubtfully practicable. That section of the inter-continent road is "in being," and Canada is pledged to maintain the portion lying within the Dominion in after-war times.

The Alberta Board of Trade and Agriculture decided at the Red Deer convention to press for the completion of the Canadian part of the larger enterprise. That involves the construction of a first-class highway from Edmonton to Dawson Creek, and the linking of Alberta's highway system with that of the United States.

This would make the Pan-American highway an accomplished fact from Fairbanks to Mexico. Upwards of one-half the total mileage of the continent-to-continent road would thus be brought into existence, including one long section which only war conditions could make immediately real.

The Alaska-Argentine highway is therefore by no means the visionary scheme it seemed ten years ago. Not much may be done to make the "dream" true while war continues to demand money, time, labor and materials. But who is to say that, under the urge of post-war conditions, the missing central American gap will not be bridged, and the highway systems of North and South America linked up?

Men for Forts

Looking backward, observers are pretty well agreed that Von Rundstedt launched his Ardenne offensive because he saw that the grinding Allied advance was a war of attrition which could have only one end. He was losing men, equipment and strong points, with no prospect of stopping the creeping avalanche by purely defensive tactics.

His sudden and powerful blow threw the Allied front out of line, pushed the fighting away from his defence positions and gained time. Time for what? That remains to be seen. Meanwhile he has attempted drives in other selected sectors, also with a view to keeping the attackers off-balance and preventing them resuming the grinding process.

He gained this respite at the expense of lengthening his front, and must lengthen it still more if he creates more "bulges". The Nazis must fight all round the perimeters of whatever bulges they make in the fighting line.

Wars are won by destroying armies, not simply by capturing fortresses and advancing over enemy territory. If, as supposed, the Allies have superiority in numbers, lengthening of the fighting line is an advantage to them, and the more it is lengthened the greater the advantage must be.

The major objective of the Allies is to hammer the enemy forces into impotence. Whether in the west they do that by penetrating the Siegfried line or by smashing Nazi divisions on the approaches to that formidable defence system, the result will be the same. In electing to fight in the open, Von Rundstedt chose to trade men in order to save his forts. But if he loses enough men he will lose the forts also.

—V—

The Argentine Government announces that it will not participate in future Pan-American meetings. This only "regularizes" the position of aloofness into which Argentina has been jockeyed by its politicians. It does not widen the breach between that state and its neighbors, but gives official recognition to its role of suspicious isolation.

—V—

Prime Minister Plastiras says the British Government has been asked to send a special police mission to Greece, to reorganize the police force. In view of the accusations made in some quarters that Britain interfered in Greek affairs in the interests of the monarchy, it is to the point to remember that Plastiras is a republican.

—V—

The Greeks say there was a lot of "zalismenos" — otherwise dizziness, or queerness—about the hostilities between the Elas and British forces. They cite as proof the fact that the combatants exchanged communication facilities with each other, and teams from either side played football while the sound of gunfire filled the air. The very plain inference is that the Elas men understood the British were not fighting them as enemies, but only trying to enforce an umpire's decision which the Elas did not like.

Meeting the Farmers' Needs

Loans Act Purports to Assist Agricultural Financing

By GRANT DEXTER

The Farm Improvement Loans act, passed at the last session of parliament, is to do for agriculture precisely what the Industrial bank is to do for industry.

The gap in the industrial credit structure was the small industry which required credit but could not qualify for it under normal banking practice. The gap in agricultural credit is the intermediate field—loans needed for more than 90 days but for not more than ten years. This kind of lending was neither banking nor mortgage business. It has been done in the past largely by implement companies, lumber concerns, merchants of various other kinds and by individual sellers. Interest rates have usually been high.

The need for intermediate farm credits has long been recognized. Many commissions have studied the problem but no successful solution has been found. The Rural Credits act of Manitoba, finally wound up with a heavy loss, is an illustration of past failures.

The 1944 statute is based not on state operation but on private enterprise. The role of the state is enlarged but only for the purpose of enabling private business to function effectively in this field. It is a solution, curiously enough, which seems never to have occurred to governments in the past. The reason, doubtless, is that the technique of government co-operation with private enterprise in matters of credit has developed rapidly in the past decade. Experiments have proved the soundness of using commercial agencies as the partners of the state.

The present intermediate farm lending act is the child of the Home Improvement act of 1936-40, under which the state guaranteed the lending by private corporations of some $50 millions. The venture was astonishingly successful. The losses have been very low—three-quarters of one per cent. Practically all the loans have been repaid and if all the outstanding amounts were lost, which is not to be expected, the over-all losses would still be only two per cent. Encouraged by this success, a variation of the policy was applied in 1942 and 1943 to purchases of coal. Again the losses have been negligible—there is but one bad loan on the books.

The farm credit problem is attacked in this way:

Section 88 of the Bank act has been amended to enlarge the powers of the banks to lend to farmers. This in itself, however, would accomplish little.

The Farm Improvement Loans act authorized the government to guarantee the banks up to ten per cent of losses on farm loans of $250 millions. Loans may run for ten years and may not exceed $3,000 in any individual case. Loans may be made to build or improve buildings, to buy implements of all kinds, tools, apparatus, appliances, trucks, tractors, livestock, to build or repair fences—in short, loans may be obtained for practically every kind of farm improvement. Various forms of security for the loans are authorized including mortgages on sums over $2,000 loaned for longer than five years. To the greatest extent possible, however, the security for each loan will be confined to the articles on which the money is spent. The maximum interest rate, unless the loan is in default, is five per cent.

This statute is an experiment. The $250 millions subject to guarantee is not a revolving fund. The act will cease to function when the $250 millions have been loaned or in three years time. Parliament will then have to revise the policy and will have the experience in the meantime to guide it. The guarantee to accept up to ten per cent of the losses does not apply to individual loans but to individual banks. The government will recoup each bank for losses up to ten per cent of its total loans under the act. The guarantee, therefore, is on a more generous basis than if it applied directly to individual loans.

That the act will bring about substantial savings to farmers was conceded by all parties in parliament. The interest rates charged by companies and merchants have been much higher than five per cent. The House of Commons inquiry into the implement industry in 1936 and 1937 showed interest rates as a distinct factor in retail prices.

As money for this kind of farm buying will now be available at five per cent, substantial economics are certain and it is also believed that the prices of implements and other farm apparatus will be reduced because the manufacturers will now do a cash and not a time business.

During the debates on this measure there was a degree of anxiety on account of the curtailment of banking facilities in rural areas. The number of branches of the chartered banks declined from 4,620 in 1920 to 3,300 in 1941 and the drop has been mostly at rural points. The government assured the house, however, that with the increase in business now anticipated this trend is likely to be reversed.

As stated, this is an adventure in credit policy. The government came under fire for not creating a companion organization to the Dominion Farm Loans board. The reply was that this method was speedy, involved no new machinery and no duplication of existing facilities, possessed the advantage of combining government assistance with practical business judgment. The banks will not be lending the taxpayers' money. They will stand to lose 90 per cent of all their loans under the act and therefore may be relied on to exercise care in selecting risks and constant supervision during the life of the loans.

The act is a postwar measure and will not come into operation until proclaimed. It is anticipated that the $250 millions will be loaned very quickly. The backlog of farm implement orders was placed at $250 millions before the war and is said to be increasing at the rate of about $50 millions per year.

Importance of Enriched Bread

Means Restoring Values By Adding Vitamins and Minerals

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

For years food authorities extolled the virtues of whole wheat bread, much to the aggravation of those who had to listen to their words. The majority, uninitiated into the mysteries of nutrition, detested it on several counts. Children found it hard to chew as did old people. Housewives said it became rancid quickly, that it had none of the freshness, or softness, that was their criterion of quality, and that it was sour in flavor.

Eventually the experts decided to drop efforts to change tastes—an imposing, if not downright impossible job—and do something constructive about the variety of the staff of life that the population was evidently determined to eat. The result was "enrichment". This, in the words of the Institute of Baking, represents "the practical application of nutrition knowledge to improve the health of the people." As such it ranks among the really notable steps that have been taken to better diets.

Behind the whole wheat school of thought was, of course, the fact that in refining white flour most of the nutrients found in the original grain in goodly number are lost. Enrichment—the realistic approach to the problem—merely means restoring the values by adding synthetic vitamins and minerals.

What It Does

The question in many a housekeeper's mind "What precisely can enriched bread do for a person?" is answered in the following.

So far as its practical aspects are concerned, we learn that "except for vitamins A, D, and C, enriched bread supplies, in significant amounts, all of the known dietary essentials for which daily allowances have been established."

What's more, it accomplishes this not-to-be-sneezed-at task thriftily and reliably. Thriftily, because it is without argument among the cheapest of foods, and reliably, because its nutrients are not apt to deteriorate through long storage, high temperature cooking, and so on.

Six one-ounce slices a day supply a moderately active man with, among other things, 21 per cent of the protein required (for maintaining strong muscles), 14 per cent of the calcium (for sound teeth), 9 per cent of the riboflavin (for extending the prime of life and delaying old age) and 23 per cent of the thiamine (for healthy nerves and appetite).

Tempting Recipes

Now that you have been made aware of the true value of enriched bread, perhaps it is in order to suggest ways and means of including it in the daily diet.

Winter weather revives interest in baking. You might explore the potentialities of sweet yeast dough using the vitamin-fortified flour, which may be converted into coffee cakes, buns, fruit roll-ups, and all sorts of good things.

Here is a recipe for basic sweet yeast dough:

To one cup of scalded milk and one-quarter cup of sugar, three tablespoons of shortening and one teaspoon of salt and cool to lukewarm. Soften a yeast cake in one-quarter cup of water before adding to the cooled milk mixture. Add 1 beaten egg and two cups sifted bread flour and beat well. Add approximately two more cups of sifted flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on a floured board and allow to stand ten minutes, then knead till smooth and elastic, or about ten minutes. Put dough in a greased bowl, brush the surface with melted fat, cover and let rise in a warm place till double in bulk, or about two hours.

For Coffee Cake, use half of this dough. Turn it out on a floured board and knead in one-quarter cup raisins and two tablespoons chopped nuts. Roll or stretch into a ten to twelve-inch disk and crease deeply with a knife handle, marking the dough into two parts, one slightly larger than the other. Turn dough over, brush with shortening and fold the larger portion over the smaller one. Place on greased baking sheet, brush dough with melted shortening and let rise in a warm place, till double in bulk, or about an hour. Bake in a hot oven of 425 degrees F for fifteen minutes, reduce temperature to moderate or 375 degrees F and bake about twenty-five minutes.

While cake is warm brush with icing made by mixing one-half cup of icing sugar with one and a half teaspoons of milk or fruit juice. This will make six generous servings.

With the remainder of the dough make Orange Twisters. Roll the dought to a quarter-inch thickness on a floured board. Brush with melted shortening and sprinkle with most of the orange sugar (made by mixing together one-third cup sugar and one tablespoon grated orange rind) reserving balance. Fold dough over into thirds and roll again to a quarter-inch thickness. Sprinkle with remaining orange sugar and cut into strips a half inch wide and eight inches long. Double each strip over and twist together. Brush with melted fat, let rise till double in size, or about an hour. Bake in a hot oven of 425 degrees F till lightly browned or about twenty minutes. This makes about two dozen twists.

Some Light on Gallup Polls

From the Chicago Sun

Figures don't lie, but liars can figure.

It would be wrong to apply this old saw against Dr. Gallup, who has admitted slanting his poll for Gov. Dewey in the recent election.

As he pleaded before the House investigating committee, it was to his own economic interest to forecast the results as accurately as possible.

Why then did he juggle his figures?

His "scientific samplings" gave the President a 53 per cent to 47 per cent advantage in the national vote, which was within a fraction of a per cent of the actual result.

But Dr. Gallup deducted 2 per cent from Roosevelt's total and gave it to Dewey, and told us the ratio was only 51 to 49.

This made the race seem more exciting, but there is no reason to suspect Dr. Gallup's motives. He says he made the secret adjustment, expecting that a light vote would injure the President's chances.

Later when he discovered the vote would be heavy, he was fair to Mr. Roosevelt. He restored the 2 per cent debit in one part of his calculations, and deducted it again in another part.

This double entry bookkeeping was necessitated by "an unmistakable Dewey trend" which he says he detected in all but three states.

Apparently he was playing a hunch, because he issued a statement confirming this "trend" at a time when he had in his possession the returns for his final poll which showed a Roosevelt gain.

The strangest thing about the poll was the way Dr. Gallup manipulated his state-by-state breakdowns to illustrate his belief in a Dewey trend.

Although he allowed the President to keep 51 per cent of the popular vote, he showed the following break-away in electoral votes:

	F.D.R.	Dewey	In doubt
September	284	208	39
October	206	255	70

You may think he did this arbitrarily just to please Republican newspapers, who happened to be his best clients. But you should listen to Dr. Gallup's explanation.

Although his returns indicated a Roosevelt lead in New York, he gave the state to Dewey partly because he didn't think the interviewers were trustworthy.

He was also suspicious of the persons interviewed. He told the House committee that he made an adjustment for their "veracity." Whenever he was in doubt, he deducted from Roosevelt's total.

Some people who took the poll at face value and bet on Dewey may be skeptical. But the rest of us should try to be fair.

About a week before the election Dr. Gallup is reported to have privately assured prominent Republican leaders that Dewey was on his way to victory. On election eve, however, one of his assistants rushed to the radio and said Dewey had about as much chance as a fellow trying to complete "17 forward passes in a row."

The conclusion is obvious. Dr. Gallup didn't believe in the Gallup poll.

A newly appointed colonel gave a dinner to his regiment. Addressing the men he said jovially: "Now fall upon the food without mercy. Treat it as if it were the enemy."

At the end of the dinner he noticed a sergeant sneaking away with two bottles of wine.

"What are you doing?" he asked.

"Obeying orders, sir," was the reply. "When you don't kill the enemy you take them prisoners."

—V—

"Look here, Sarah," said the master of the house, "how many more times have I to tell you about these cobwebs? I've just had to sweep one off the bed-rail and throw it in the fire myself."

"Good gracious, sir," explained the maid. "That's the missus' fancy dress for tonight's dance!"

Fire Chief Tired of Red Tape

By R. C. J. in The Ottawa Journal

At the Priorities Branch in Ottawa of the Munitions Department, their feelings, at first, were a bit injured by the tone of a letter they received from the fire chief of the village of Ganges on Salt Spring Island off the British Columbia coast.

Then they thought it over, laughed about it, copied it, passed it around and unanimously elected its plain-speaking author as Canada's Most Accomplished Expediter.

In the realm of Munitions, an expediter is a fellow of remarkable talent for breaking anything out of the rut of departmental routine, snipping red tape and securing immediate delivery.

Expediting is an art mastered by few, and by fewer as well as the fire chief of Ganges who asked Munitions to send him a siren.

Because sirens seem to be obtainable only in the United States, the Munitions Department became the fire chief's intermediary with Washington's War Production Board.

The application for the siren was duly filed with WPB through DMS. Four times WPB asked for more information pertaining to the need for the siren, and four times DMS as the go-between relayed the requests to the fire chief.

Answering the fourth demand for more data, the chief thus addressed himself to Munitions' Priorities Branch:

Sirs: Complete information supplied as requested in your Department of Munitions and Supply letter to complete Block 20 of the United States War Production Board File 1319 follows:

Salt Spring Island, for which the equipment sought is needed, is the largest and most beautiful of the Canadian Pacific coastal islands, lying about midway between the cities of Vancouver and Victoria.

It rests like a gem of beauty in the azure waters of the Gulf of Georgia.

It has an area of seventy (70) square miles, contains eleven (11) fresh water lakes, well stocked with game fish, and is traversed by one hundred (100) miles of perfectly surfaced motor roads.

There is a nine-hole golf course; two well appointed beer taverns; a modern shopping centre at Ganges (the island's chief port) where also is located the new modern consolidated school and a well-equipped hospital.

The island is served by both local and long distance telephone service, electric light and power.

It has an average rainfall of thirty-seven (37) inches, an average summer temperature of sixty-two (62) degrees and an average winter temperature of forty-two (42) degrees. The bathing is superb, and the average yearly sunshine hours total two thousand (2,000).

It has (in normal times) a population of eighteen hundred (1,800) people, all God-fearing, self-respecting souls, one hundred (100) per cent English-speaking.

During the present world conflict, all the male population who are young enough or old enough are in the Armed Forces as volunteers. They pay their taxes promptly and have consistently exceeded their quota in every Victory Loan.

The political trend of the island has been Liberal. In the last Federal election the people helped return a Liberal member to the House of Commons, but there now is distinct evidence that they realize their error.

The chief industries of the island are dairy and chicken farming and sheep raising. There is a modern co-operative creamery, and the dairy herds comprise fine registered Jersey stock. The sheep industry is an important one, and the breeding stock is largely exported.

A proportion of the lamb crop, however, is butchered and brings premium prices on the markets of Vancouver and Victoria, largely due to the early feeding of the lambs on the carpets of violets with which the island abounds, giving the meat a delicate and distinctive flavor.

The present depleted population of the island (owing to the war) is largely composed of older people, women and children, and the need of adequate fire protection is urgent.

The volunteer brigade is as efficient as can be expected under the circumstances, but the method of alarm at present is totally inadequate.

It consists of an old motor horn of the press-the-bulb variety, implemented vocally by the fire chief.

Unfortunately, due to the enforced drought brought by the hasty and ill-considered action of the present Bureaucracy in power at Ottawa, the vocal cords of the fire chief are unable longer to implement the bulb horn, although there is some hope that if this application is returned sufficiently often, he may find his voice again. It is feared, however, that should this happen, it will be more likely to coerce rather than suppress conflagrations.

To finally sum up: We need the siren asked for, and would like to have it if it can be had. So please, either pass this request or refuse it, and let us know your decision. But for God's sake don't go on writing any more damn-fool letters, wasting time, paper and the taxpayers' money in idiotic requests for information which cannot have any possible practical bearing on the application.

Sincerely yours,
(The Fire Chief of Ganges.)

That was all. And it was plenty. After the first shock of the letter, DMS with a deep departmental chuckle gave the siren a top priority, sped the application again on its way to Washington where the WPB cleared it.

The Fire Chief received his siren post-haste, and his lamented vocal cords may rest at peace until the "Bureaucracy at Ottawa" ends the drought, and he may feel, for old time's sake, like "implementing" the bulb horn with a few well chosen bellows of joy.

Death of Girl Still Mystery After Inquest

A coroner's jury, inquiring into the death of 23-year-old Margaret Jean Lindsay, who died Aug. 9 last in the Meadowview district, stated Friday that from evidence received, cause of death was undetermined. Miss Lindsay's body was recently exhumed and an investigation into her death launched by police.

Everett C. Hawkins, 58-year-old Meadowview district farmer, told the jury the dead woman had complained of dizziness and headaches since July 27, at which time she fell from a partially-loaded hayrack.

Both himself and Miss Lindsay had treated the fall "as a joke," Hawkins said, although he did not associate the fall with her dizzy spells.

CONTINUED CHORES

Besides doing general farm duties, she prepared meals, milked cows, but did no heavy lifting, the witness continued, saying that on the morning of Aug. 9 last, she got the breakfast, did the milking, and was lying on the bed when he returned from the pasture with the horses he intended using that day.

Miss Lindsay said she felt dizzy, he continued, and added: "I am getting short of breath and want to go outside."

Jumping off the bed, she was assisted outside into the fresh air.

"We walked 35 or 40 feet from the house," the witness said, "when Miss Lindsay's knees buckled. 'You better lay down, hadn't you, Peg?' I asked her.

"She nodded her head, and went unconscious. I thought she had fainted and put her on her back. When I saw her face, it didn't look like a faint. I shouted to the Karpes —neighbors about 300 yards away— and they came over in their truck.

ASKED FOR WHISKY

"I asked them if they had some whisky. I thought I told them Peg was dying", the witness added, saying artificial respiration was tried on the girl, keeping her alive for 10 or 15 minutes.

The witness stated that he started for the post office to phone the police and a doctor, leaving Mrs. Paul Karpe and her daughter at the farm. Half-way to the post office he met Mr. Karpe returning from there, he having already gone and notified a doctor.

At this point, the witness was asked to go back to the day of the accident in the hayfield, at which time Miss Lindsay was injured.

Hawkins replied that she had been driving the team, but when she got a thorn in her shoe, she sat down on the load but miscalculated her distance from the edge of the rack. She called out to him as she disappeared on the far side of the load, he said.

Dr. Emile J. Verreau, Barrhead, told of going to the Meadowview farm and finding the young woman dead on the ground. There was no indication of violence, but upon questioning Hawkins, was informed of the accident in the field a short time before. Death, continued the witness, was caused by what he termed was a blood clot which might have stopped circulation, and caused sudden death.

Reference to medicines the dead woman might have taken was made, the doctor stating that he had looked into the mouth for any signs of corrosion, caused by taking poison. He found no medicine of any kind, nor was there any indication but what she had died a natural death.

HAD NO SUSPICIONS

He had no suspicions that Miss Lindsay was pregnant, he continued, and deciding then that no inquest was necessary, signed cause of death on the death certificate as being cerebral hemmorhage.

Constable Hugh Russell, RCMP, told the jury that Hawkins had denied having any knowledge of the woman being pregnant. The man did think it a dangerous practise to take medicine instead of having a child, the witness continued.

"Hawkins lied a couple of times," said the police officer, and told of the farmer's refusal to answer some questions about his past. "He had affairs with quite a number of women," the officer added.

Hawkins, recalled to the stand was further examined.

"I am not sure who was responsible for Miss Lindsay's pregnancy," he said.

Constable William MacLeod, of the Westlock detachment, RCMP, gave evidence briefly. Miss Lindsay, he said, had gone from the Carvel district to the Meadowview district.

Dr. E. A. Braithwaite, chief coroner, presided. Members of the jury were J. W. Parks, foreman; F. Taylor, R. J. Talbot, Russell Duncan, Ronald Watkins and W. A. Hogan.

Daily War Map—Exclusively in The Edmonton Bulletin

Map shows where the Nazis' northern wall of the Ardennes salient has crumbled along the Allied assault front, with U.S. 1st Army units driving south to threaten the German St. Vith-LaRoche lifeline. Meanwhile the 3rd Army pushing north is within 10 miles of a junction with the 1st Army which would pocket a sizeable enemy force. In the north, however, the Germans have begun a new thrust at Venlo, while to the south they are driving toward Soultz and threatening Strasbourg.

Nazi Prisoners Are Dismissed By Magistrate

Reinhold Bauer, 23-year-old German prisoner-of-war, won acquittal on a charge of indecent assault Thursday because "Canadian courts give the accused the benefit of a doubt."

The tall, dark-featured former lance-corporal in Rommel's Afrikan Corps, stood in the prisoner's dock as Magistrate Harold L. Hawe, KC, handed down his decision after a four-day hearing, his features impassive, his dark eyes looking straight ahead.

A moment later, his companion, Kurt Wolfanger, also a German prisoner-of-war stood up to hear a similar charge against himself being withdrawn.

CALLED TO STAND

Bauer concluded giving his own evidence shortly before noon, Thursday, and Wolfanger was called into the witness stand.

He said he had seen Bauer give oranges and a note to Mrs. Naja Hut, Northville district farmer's wife whom he was charged with indecently assaulting. When the witness proffered a cigarette to her, however, she declined to accept it.

Asked if he knew anything about relations between the accused and Mrs. Hut, the witness said he did not know; he had been with Vera Zukowski, who now charged him with indecent assault.

Asked about his own relations with Vera, the witness stated he had kissed her while they were in the barn.

"What else did you do while you were in the barn?" he was asked.

"I embraced her and kissed", was the prompt reply.

Wolfanger said he and the woman had stayed in the barn only a minute and then went towards the house. He opened the door for Vera and had taken one step inside the door himself, when he heard a voice say, "Come on, boys". He thought it was Hut speaking.

RETURNED TO CAMP

Almost immediately, he heard Bauer calling out, "Let's go". Both himself and the accused returned to the prisoner-of-war camp alone, he said.

"That ended your rendezvous with the girls for that evening?" he was asked. He replied that it was, and said he ran into a barb-wire fence, cutting his upper lip, in his hurry to get away.

"Acting according to the training you have received, you take to cover", the crown prosecutor suggested.

"I would call it 'retreating'," the magistrate interjected. The witness grinned when the magistrate's words were translated to him.

Mrs. Hut, together with her husband, were recalled to the witness stand at the last minute. The former declared she had never received a letter similar to the one shown to her in court, while her husband, now speaking English in the absence of an interpreter, denied having spoken in that language on the night of the trouble.

Mr. Hawe, in dismissing the case, said both women had asked for an interpreter because they did not understand English, a language, he discovered in their evidence, they spoke fluently.

He noticed the same thing when Bauer gave evidence—at times, the accused had given an answer to a question not yet translated into German.

ABLE TO CONVERSE

Mr. Hawe felt that all concerned had understood quite sufficient English to enable them to converse and understand each other.

"While I have considerable doubt, Canadian courts give the benefit of a doubt to the accused, and I dismiss the charge preferred against you."

Guy Patterson, K.C., was crown prosecutor, while J. S. Mavor, KC, of Calgary was counsel for the defense. Lt. A. R. Lendi, Lethbridge internment camp, acted as interpreter for the accused.

Both counsel and interpreter are assigned by the government of Switzerland.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

When Mrs. A. M. (Helen) Sobel won the National Mixed Pair Championship at Atlantic City recently with Sidney Silidor, it was not only her second championship of the week but now Mrs. Sobel will have her name on every National Championship trophy in play. This pair won the event this year by one of the largest scores ever accumulated.

When I asked Mrs. Sobel to give me an interesting hand out of this record-breaking session, she said she could tell me about one hand that she didn't get any points on at all. So here it is.

Most players would make a pre-emptory bid with West holding; however, against Mrs. Sobel the hand was passed, so she made the pre-emptory bid. You will have to admit that West's bid of five diamonds might easily have been a stab in the dark, especially vulnerable. The opening lead was won with the ace and now a small heart played from dummy. Not wanting to let a singleton queen make Silidor went in with the ace. However, this was trumped and the declarer had only to give up a spade and a diamond.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

EDMONTON hockey fans will get their first glimpse of the current brand of Saskatchewan junior hockey when the Regina Commandos start against Canadians at the Arena tomorrow night. The game will commence at 8:30 o'clock.

The runners-up to the star-studded Moose Jaw Canucks must have at least considerable of what it takes, for they grabbed off two out of five league affairs with Roy Bentley's club. And it will be a surprise if the Reginans lack speed, for all Saskatchewan teams can skate—and usually both ways.

As a result of the visit of the Commandos, it should be possible to make a reasonably accurate appraisal of Canadians' chances should they represent Alberta in the coming Memorial cup playdowns, as now seems highly probable. The Regina juniors will be the first Saskatchewan team to appear in Edmonton since the playoffs in the spring of 1941.

BOTH IMPORTANT GAMES

WITH two inter-provincial sessions billed for Saturday, this week-end will supply something in the nature of a preview of junior playdowns. The rampaging Monarchs are claimed to be one of the best clubs Winnipeg has produced in years and considerable importance also attaches to their clash with Moose Jaw Canucks tomorrow night.

"Agile Al" Greenaway who guards the Commando nets is said to be one of the main reasons why the Regina juniors have done so well. Don Murray, Canadian custodian who was with New York Rovers last season, also knows his way around a goal crease.

Eleven pucks have gotten past Don in five league games and of these, five were flipped in by the Maple Leafs on Dec. 20. A pair of deuces and a couple of aces were the other game counts against him. Canadians also have another high-class net-minder in the person of Sammy Hergert, young Calgarians. Sammy hasn't worked in a game here so far, but he gave a great display for the Canucks in their game in Calgary during Christmas week-end.

HERE AND THERE . . .

SOMEWHAT meagre attendances at junior hockey games in Edmonton so far, evidently is receiving attention elsewhere. In a recent column, Dave Dryburgh, sports editor of the Regina Leader-Post, hints of the possibility that Saskatchewan might get all of the best-of-seven playdow series, because, as he puts it, "Edmonton citizens aren't wearing out the pavements, or climbing over snowbanks to reach their rink."

Ken McAuley's approaching marriage to Millie Warwick of Regina, is slated for "some time this month" in New York. Millie is a sister of Grant Warwick, a team-mate of Ken with the New York Rangers. She played pro softball in the All-American girls' circuit.

Two former Edmonton Grads were on opposing teams in a Girls' Basketball League game at NWAC gym last night. Assigned to check Noel (MacDonald) Robertson of the RCAF Gremlins, Etta Dann of the Army and Navy Pats evidently carried out instructions and, in addition found time to score 12 points, high for the night. Noel counted 10 of her team's 12.

Montreal Goes Ahead of Detroit in National Hockey League Race

Canadiens Overcome Leaf Jinx to Win 7-4

Ace String Rattles In Five Goals

MONTREAL, Jan. 12.—(CP)—Montreal Canadiens did an effective smashing job on the jinx Toronto Maple Leafs have held over them most of this season when they whipped the Leafs 7-4 Thursday night before a capacity 13,071 fans.

Almost incidentally, as far as the fans were concerned, the Canucks moved a game ahead of Detroit Red Wings in the National Hockey League race, while smashing Toronto's hopes of narrowing the gap separating them from the two top teams.

The second period was the big one for the victors, with five straight goals passing Frank McCool before the Leafs finally scored on Sweeney Schriner's goal in the final minute of the frame. Schriner added another in the third to serve notice that he was getting back to form after a long lay-off.

The Blake-Lach-Richard line sparked the Canadiens' win with five counters. Toe Blake and Maurice Richard collected two each and Elmer Lach got the fifth as well as three assists. Other Canadien counters went to Dutch Hiller—who scored the only goal of the opening period—and Butch Bouchard, who contributed a solo effort for the only Canuck counter of the third.

Nick Metz and Lorne Carr were the scorers for the Leafs, in addition to Schriner's two, with their counters coming late in the game.

Boston Beaten 5-1

NY Rangers Move Into Tie With Fourth-Place Bruins

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The rapidly improving New York Rangers advanced into a tie with Boston's Bruins for fourth place in the National Hockey League standing by trouncing Boston 5-1 Thursday night. The game was the fifth since the last Ranger defeat and Boston's fourth straight setback.

The victory was costly to the Rangers, however, as Bob Dill, one of their few available defencemen, was struck over the right eye by a flying puck early in the third period and suffered a cut which required three stitches. Two other Ranger defencemen, Ott Heller and Guy Labrie, already were out with injuries.

Boston scored its only goal 47 seconds after the start when Bill Cowley set up a pass for Jack Crawford.

Hank Goldup tied the score for New York. It wasn't until the last three minutes of the second frame that either team could score again. Then Ants Atanas and Kilby MacDonald rapped in quick Ranger goals. Grant Warwick and Fred Thurier finished the scoring in the last five minutes of the game. Thurier was the game's leading point-getter with two assists besides his goal.

On Wartime Sports in U.S.

James Byrnes May Be Asked To Make Definite Decision

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP)—There were indications Thursday that James Byrnes, director of war mobilization, will soon be asked to make a definite over-all decision on what to do with wartime sports in the United States.

Some sources predicted Mr. Byrnes will find that the most practicable solution is to order as tight a general shutdown as that in effect at race tracks.

The request for Mr. Byrnes to act is expected to come from a presidential committee and office of defence transportation now studying the ban on conventions and trade shows attended by 50 or more persons.

So many complex problems in regard to sports events have been brought before the committee, headed by J. Monroe Johnson, ODT director, that the most satisfactory course may be to check the entire situation back to Mr. Byrnes.

"If it reaches a point where complications can't be readily straightened out, we'll go to the White House for a decision on sports events," an ODT source said.

It was emphasized that "in case of doubt, the thing to do is cancel," and that "this thing is very serious; nobody's kidding about the war's pressing needs."

Crossland, Graham, McSporran Star

Street Railway and New Method Take Independent Hockey Tilts

Edmonton Street Railway's sextet shellacked the Swift Canadian Club 11-1 in the second game and New Method Laundry whipped Burns Shamrocks 5-2 in the curtain raiser of a thrilling City Independent Hockey League doubleheader played before about 600 fans at the Arena Thursday night.

A trio of former outstanding senior puckchasers—Bob Crossland, Bob Graham and Alex McSporran—provided a nightmare for goalie Ray Lalonde, the net-minder who boasts the only shut-out in the league, as they kept the goalkeeper busy right from the start.

All three drove the rubber past the Swift goalie three times, and in addition Crossland set up plays for five markers and Graham assisted in three. The trio all showed they hadn't lost their hockey ability as they went through the Swift defence time and time again.

McSporran, player-coach of the Street Railway club, has taken up a defence post while Crossland and Graham team up with George McPherson on the winners' first line, a string which collected 13 scoring points last night.

McPherson drove in one goal and helped in another for two points while the other Street Railway counter was tallied by Joe Caswell.

Swifts got the first goal with Doug Verville setting up a perfect shot for Colin Kilburn who made no mistake, but the winners soon got organized and from the time Caswell netted on a pass from Bob Walker, at 12:30 of the initial period, the winners out-played them to gain the most one-sided win in the young circuit.

Graham added two more before the canto ended, making it 3-1.

Street Railway turned on the power in the second and drove home four more to boost their lead to 7-1 and then went through to beat Lalonde on four more occasions during the final session.

Play was rough and ragged in spots, but equally eye-opening in others. Both netminders played outstandingly, although Lalonde was the victim of 11 goals. Bob Campbell made some nice saves in the last period as the Swifts were pressing and was one of the main factors in the low score against him.

During the third period, John Maday collided with the Swift goalpost while travelling at full speed and had to be taken to hospital. Seriousness of his injury was not known last night.

LINEUPS

Swifts: Lalonde, Phillips, Mellon Proulx, Yelland, Hollister, Shaw, Dunlop, Kilburn, Verville, Shopter.

Street Railway: Campbell, Newsome, Rattenbury, Graham, McPherson, Maday, Walker, Crossland, Caswell, McSporran, Gray, Poonmore.

Referee—Bill Runge.

No penalties.

NEW METHOD LEADING ONLY UNBEATEN TEAM

New Method took over sole possession of first place in the league when they handed the Burns Shamrocks their second straight setback, 5-2.

Louis Holmes, Tommy Brant and Pete Elock led the unbeaten Laundry team to its second straight victory. Holmes and Brant both drove in two goals while Elock counted once and assisted in another.

Bob Wilchinski and Bill Danilowich scored the two Burns markers, with Joe Longoz setting up Danilowich's counter.

Wilchinski opened the scoring just 4 minutes and 35 seconds after the opening whistle when he beat Bob Templeman on a clean shot, but Tommy Brant came right back less than a minute afterwards to deadlock the count, also on a solo effort. Burns went ahead again near the close of the frame on Danilowich's effort with Longoz.

It didn't take the New Method club long to tie it up again, and at 40 seconds of the second canto Brant blazed one past Jack Warner. The Laundrys didn't stop with that, however. At the 4 minute mark Holmes put them ahead for the first time and two minutes and 35 seconds later he increased the margin to 4-2 from a scramble in front of the net. Elock completed a play with Ken Bayly before the end of the one-sided stanza and from then on the two goalkeepers turned aside every shot that came their way.

LINEUPS

Burns: Jack Warner; Jim Warner, Potter, Steir, Wilchinski, Gallen, Danilowich, Kobinski, Manning, Cody, Longoz, Budznsky.

The Pats took a 4-2 lead in the first quarter and then increased it to 19-8 at the half-way mark by out-scoring the losers 15-6 in the second.

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(BUP)—Eddie Eagan, a poor Colorado boy who rode amateur boxing gloves to wealth and social prominence, was named chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission Thursday by Governor Dewey.

Eagan, of the Yale-Harvard-Oxford broad, succeeds John J. Phelan, an ex-general who held the important pugilistic post for 13 years. Democrat Phelan's last term expired Jan. 1.

Doubtless the $7,500 annual salary is no objective for six foot Eddie, the former olympic and AEF boxing champion who became a new attorney and husband of Margaret Colgate of the soap millions. Eagan, recently retired as an air force Lieutenant Colonel, probably hopes to use the cauliflower job as a political springboard, as did Jim Farley who was chairman before Phelan. The bully boys of Jacobs' Beach are pleasantly surprised that Dewey has chosen a boxing boss who is conversant with the technique of leather-tossing. General Phelan was respected for his honest efforts to keep the sport clean; but the former brassiere manufacturer was a complete bust in clarifying rules or violations.

SPARRED WITH TUNNEY

ALTHOUGH Edward Patrick Francis Eagan never belted for bucks, he should understand the art of mit-mayhem because he stands out as the most famous performer in amateur ring history. Moreover, he sparred with such notables as Gene Tunney, Jack Dempsey, Tommy Gibbons and Tom Heeney. He even wrote a book: "Fighting for Fun".

This 193 pounder, with the graying brown hair, who lives in a handsome mansion at Rye, N.Y., admits frankly that his proficiency with the gloves provided the basis of his Tunney like rise in life. The Cinderella man's story began in Denver, where his father — a railroad man — died shortly after Eddie was born. Widow Eagan and her five boys moved to Longmont, Colo., a cattle and beet sugar town. Struggling to live and learn, Eddie became interested in boxing in high school. During his one year at Denver U., he won the western amateur middleweight title.

Then came the first world war, and Lieutenant Eagan's post-armistive triumph at Paris, winning the middleweight championship of the AEF. Gene Tunney won the light heavy laurels. Back in the USA, at Yale, he won the national amateur heavyweight title at Boston in 1920, followed quickly by the olympic light heavy crown at Antwerp, Belgium. Then came a year at Harvard law school, and a Rhodes scholarship that sent him to Oxford in England, were he won the British amateur heavyweight title.

ENTERING NEW WORLD

LEAVING Oxford in 1925, he went on a world exhibition tour with several British gentlemen boxers, including the Marquis of Clydesdale—now the Duke of Hamilton, on whose Scotland estate Rudolph Hess landed.

In '26, he helped Tunney groom for his second Dempsey fight at Chicago. Then law and real estate in New York, and his marriage to Miss Colgate in '27. They now have a son of 15 and a daughter of 13. In '32, he was a member of the four man bobsled team that won the olympic title at Lake Placid, N.Y., giving him the unprecedented distinction of being an olympic champion in two different sports.

He served five years as assistant US district attorney for Southern New York, then returned to private practice, which he gave up to enter the air force for his second war. During almost three years as chief of special service for air transport commands he visited nearly every part of the world where there are US air bases.

The Cinderella kid from Colorado certainly went places; but, brother, he's entering a new world (of skulduggery) now.

Half The Price Of A Good Steak

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Thoroughbred horseflesh sold on the hoof at an auction sale at the fair grounds race track here Friday for about 31 cents a pound, or half the price of a good beefsteak.

Some 1,500 turf fans attended the sale of "holdovers" but there were not more than a half-dozen bidders in the bunch and seven of the 23 thoroughbreds offered on the block brought a total of only $1,985. Owners of the 16 other horses refused to "sacrifice" their animals for what they termed "ridiculous" prices.

Joint Meeting Set For Feb. 2

Baseball Man Probable Choice

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Straws in the wind today indicated a baseball man would be chosen to succeed the late commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis, possibly at the Feb. 2 joint meeting of the major leagues in New York.

An Associated Press poll of club owners and general managers, who must make the decision, revealed a decided trend toward a man versed in the rules and problems of the game rather than a nationally-known figure not identified with the sport.

With the exception of President Ed Barrow of New York Yankees, who said he would support any one of four men, none of the moguls offered candidates.

Barrow said he would vote for President Ford Frick of the National League, President Will Harridge of the American League, general manager Warren Giles of Cincinnati or Louis McCavoy, director of broadcasting in the American loop. He insisted on a man from within the game.

Frick, who has gained surprising unsolicited support from the rival circuit, leads the list of possibilities.

District News in Brief

FO Lloyd Miller Back In Canada

GRANDE PRAIRIE: FO. Lloyd A. Miller, RCAF, who has been spending his first furlough in Canada in four years with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Miller, has returned to Ottawa by plane.

FO. Miller enlisted in the RCAF in August, 1940 and was in England of June, 1941 as a sergeant. He was dispatched to the Dutch East Indies and saw service in Java and Sumatra during the thick of the fighting with the Japs before the British and Canadian airmen were evacuated to India.

Later he was posted to Ceylon, where he was commissioned as a fighter pilot. He operated from Ceylon and later Burma as the Japs were pushed back early in 1943. In all, FO. Miller made 11 operational flights over enemy territory, all without mishap.

"Jap pilots are good, but they have no individuality, said FO. Miller, they all do the same thing."

He likes Ceylon best of all the tropical countries from which he operated. Both climate and living conditions were pleasant he said. In India the contrast between the extreme rich and the very poor was shocking and constitutes a problem for which there seems no solution. The Taj Majal was beautiful and the palaces of some of the native princes were beyond description, he said.

In England, FO. Miller met two of his brothers, Jimmy and Bobby, both in the RCAF. Back in Canada FO. Miller was impressed with the abundance in all the stores, in contrast to the almost empty shelves of the London shops.

Former Alberta University Student Is Awarded U.S. Legion of Merit

Former University of Alberta student and a resident of Grainger, Alberta, for many years, Lt.-Col. Donald G. MacDonald, has been awarded the Legion of Merit for work in the development of the Alaskan Division, Air Transport Command of the USAAF here.

Colonel MacDonald, now stationed in Hawaii, was assistant chief of staff, priorities and traffic, to Brig.-Gen. Dale V. Gaffney from January 1943 to July of 1944, with headquarters in Edmonton.

CITATION GIVEN

Award of the medal by the U.S. war department carries this citation:

"Charged with the responsibility of carrying out the priorities and traffic mission of the Alaskan Division during an extremely difficult pioneering period when both trained personnel and physical facilities were in large part lacking, Colonel MacDonald, with rare ability and sound judgment, organized and administered the priorities and traffic operations with such efficiency that a traffic project which was once novel and difficult became routine.

"Due to his foresight, the use of flight traffic clerks in passenger operations was instituted and a system of scheduling devised which resulted in the best consistent aircraft utilization figure in any division of the Air Transport Command."

Colonel MacDonald's skill at keeping planes busy was demonstrated last spring when one C-47 Skytrain of the Alaskan Division averaged 15.9 hours in the air every day throughout April and May.

Before he entered the U.S. Army Air Forces in 1942, the colonel was an executive with United Airlines.

MOVED TO GRAINGER

With his parents, he moved to Grainger from Berkeley, California, before World War I. After attending grammar school in Alberta he returned to California for his high school courses. In 1928, he registered as a mechanical engineering student at the University of Alberta but left college before graduation.

The colonel's brother, W. D. MacDonald, holds a master's degree in agriculture from the University of Alberta and operates a stock farm at Grainger.

He spoke at a meeting of the Empire Club.

Deserts Children: Gets Six Months

Three months' imprisonment was the sentence imposed Friday on Mrs. Louise Belcourt, Carievale district resident, who pleaded guilty to deserting her six children, when she appeared before Magistrate Harold L. Hawe, KC, in city police court.

RCMP investigations revealed that the woman, accompanied by a seventh child, a girl in her 'teens, came to Edmonton early in December. When the mother disappeared, the girl started a search of city cafes, and police were called in. When the accused was found, she was told to go home and take care of her family.

About two weeks later, after receiving new complaints that the woman had again left home and her children, police went to Carievale, where it was found that the baby was without clothing. There was little bedding, and foodstuffs consisted only of a bag of flour and a few items of canned tomatoes. The children had been taken in by neighboring farmers.

The children are now in a convent at St. Albert.

THE QUESTION

The State of Michigan now has a voluntary blood plasma plan for the civilian population following outrageous disclosures of blood being withheld from patients until their ability to pay was investigated. Do you think Alberta should examine the situation concerning civilian blood plasma?

THE ANSWERS

G. ANDERSON, visitor from B.C.: I think a civilian blood plasma bank maintained with ample reserves should be set up in every province of Canada without delay. Plasma has accomplished such wonders on the battlefields that the home front should have ample supplies too.

E. AGAR, artist: I think the Michigan plan is an excellent one although I have never heard of persons being turned down for blood plasma here if they could not pay for it. At the same time I favor any plan to build up a big reserve for civilian use.

• • •

B. WOODS, trucker: I think that blood plasma, used as it is in emergency cases, should never be a question of price. Surely such things as reported from Michigan never happen here. At any rate I strongly endorse a plan to build up a blood bank for civilian use, providing all our war blood plasma needs are first met.

Chamber of Mines Reports Oil, Mineral Developments Going Ahead Despite War

Development of the oil industry and new mining companies in the northwest, the improved position of the coal industry across Canada, and the discovery of new salt wells in northern Alberta all will contribute to expansion of business in the city of Edmonton, according to Leonard E. Drummond, ME, secretary-manager of the Alberta and Northwest Chamber of Mines and Resources, who reported on the last year's progress at annual meeting of the chamber held in the Macdonald hotel Thursday evening.

This development of mines and resources, continuing apace despite war handicaps, will provide endless opportunity for keen investors and sound promoters, said Mr. Drummond.

"We find a wave of confidence developing on the possibilities of the country and the future of its economic resources," he declared. "This situation is developing not only in eastern Canada, but also in the United States."

POSSIBILITIES PROVED

American national defence projects, which have proved oil possibilities of the northwest as well as developed the field adjacent to the mineral area, and diamond drilling by Giant Yellowknife Gold Mines Ltd., have played a most important part in development of the wave of confidence, said Mr. Drummond.

Ore bodies in the Yellowknife district were traced for 5,000 feet, with probable continuity for another 1,600 feet, have been found by diamond drilling, the mines chamber official stated. "The size of this great ore body is so great in width it justifies a mill much greater in size than has been erected heretofore in this area," he asserted. "The drilling also indicated the continuity of the Yellowknife structures, which have been substantiated by later discoveries."

"One of the most significant facts which has developed as a result of recent exploration work, has been that not only is gold encountered, but several of the rarer metals, such as tantalite, columbite, tin, beryl, spodumene and molybdenum."

EXPANSION FORECAST

Forecasting rapid expansion of power development in the Yellowknife region, Mr. Drummond said additional power production could be expected from the Yellowknife river, development work on the Beaulieu river, and production on a larger scale on the Lockhart river. In addition, power sites along the Camsell river may be considered for supply of electric power to the Eldorado mines on Great Bear Lake.

Ninety-two new mining companies are prepared to undertake work in the Yellowknife district as soon as conditions permit, the meeting was told. Along the Mackenzie river in the Norman Wells area, 51 oil wells are reported, producing an aggregate monthly flow of 125,000 barrels.

The whole northwest is served by a network of navigable waterways and by aircraft operating out of Edmonton to 12 airports in the Mackenzie river basin and 13 other ports extending to the Alaska boundary, said Mr. Drummond.

OIL PRODUCTION

He disclosed 964,500 barrels of oil were produced in the Northwest Territories last year, having a value of $1,311,500. Alberta oil production in this period was 8,952,000 barrels, valued at $14,592,000, bringing total Canadian production for the year to $16,250,000.

Capacity of the new Canol pipeline opened in 1944 is approximately 3,000 barrels a day, while the oil refinery at Whitehorse is capable of a production rate of 3,000 barrels a day, Mr. Drummond reported.

He said the chamber of mines would continue sponsorship of prospectors' classes, held at the University of Alberta, which are open to all who care to take up the work, and particularly to those with previous mining experience.

Funeral Is Held For James Noble

A funeral service for James Noble, a well known resident of Stony Plain, was held Thursday in Howard and McBride's chapel. Mr Noble, a farmer in the Stony Plain district for the last 25 years, died Jan. 7.

The Rev. A. W. Magee officiated and burial took place in Edmonton cemetery.

Surviving are a brother and two sisters in Scotland.

Housing Lack Blow to Vets, British Brides

Two new classes of Edmontonians are now being hit by the city's serious lack of housing. They are veterans of the present war returning in an ever-increasing stream and British war brides of Canadian servicemen.

A checkup here Friday revealed there have been more than 600 applications for accommodation in the 105 units being made available for civilian housing at the former U.S. Army camp at Calder.

BECOME DESPERATE

Veterans rejoining their families after years of service overseas and on the battlefronts are becoming desperate in efforts to obtain housing.

In most cases where there are children really serious hardship is being endured.

A flying officer with nearly four years of service is now residing with his wife and three small children in a single room of a city block.

"When I tell landlords I have three children they just laugh in my face. I haven't a chance," this airman said.

Persons who might have adequate accommodation for this officer's family are asked to telephone The Edmonton Bulletin.

British war brides are also facing a bleak situation. Many of these are reported to be so discouraged at being unable to obtain accommodation that they have been trying to arrange transportation back to Britain.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Some Men Unworthy Of Any Type of Woman

Army Training Is Best Means of Making Real Men Out of Cads; Even This Fails to Help a Few Self Centred Individuals

DEAR MISS DIX: My 16-year-old daughter has a boy friend who takes possession of our home by pounding on the piano and turning on the radio to a station he likes, regardless of the likes of anyone else in the household. He criticizes her dress, calls her dumb, tells her she doesn't have to obey me and tries to get her to skip classes as he does. He tells her he doesn't have any money to take her out, yet spends $15 on himself trying to look like a second Sinatra.

My daughter tries to laugh off this lack of manners and his laziness, but I can't see anything amusing in his rudeness. Am I not justified in asking her to find a civilized boy friend who is a gentleman? Or have all the nice, well-bred boys gone to war? Just what are the chances in life for a boy of this character or for the girl who falls in love with him?

MOTHER.

Answer: The chances for bumptious, conceited young asses, such as the one you describe, used to be absolutely nil, for nobody would put up with their arrogance and their lack of manners. They never could keep a job or make friends. Everybody avoided them as the pests they were. They were doomed to become parasites on their parents and hangers-on of pool rooms and cadgers of drinks.

But the brightest spot in the war is that it takes these young cads and turns them into men. A drill sergeant gives them the discipline that their fond and foolish mothers didn't. They are being made to consider others instead of themselves, to do the things they don't want to do and to show respect for authority. It is working such a reformation that their own parents won't know them when they come back. If the war has robbed us of many fine young men, it is paying its debt in part by turning many worthless boys into good men.

Your daughter certainly has little pride if she puts up with the insulting treatment that this ill-bred young man offers her. But I suppose now that dates are at a premium, girls feel that they must take what they can get and not be too choosy.

The only solution that I can see of your problem is for this lad to be drafted into the army. But his type is pretty likely to find some way to wiggle out and be a home-sitter instead of a fighter.

NEUROTIC

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Can you please tell us what we can do with our mother who is ruining our home and making us all nervous wrecks with her constant complaining and nagging? In particular, she spends her time baiting our father, accusing him of doing things he has never heard of or thought of doing. He doesn't drink or go out anywhere, but works hard all day and at night to get more money to buy us kids nice things. Yet she never lets him have a minute's peace at home.

Our home would be very happy if she would only stop saying nasty things to Father.

EDNA AND ALICE.

ANSWER: Evidently your mother is one of the neurotic women who get their pleasure in life out of torturing other people, and as their families are the most available victims, they concentrate on pouring all of their venom on them.

The only way to deal with these domestic fiends is by frightening them. Your mother does not want to lose her good home and comfortable living by having to go out and support herself, so if your father would tell her that he was going to take you children and go off and establish a home where you could live in peace, it would make her behave herself, if anything would.

QUARREL

DEAR MISS DIX: My fiance and I quarrel continually over every single thing, although we love each other. Do you think if we got married we would be able to live together in peace?

H. M.

ANSWER: No. You would find far more things to quarrel over if you were married and were thrown in continual contact with each other than now while you are single and not actually living together.

Evidently you are temperamentally antagonistic, and you will be wise to part and seek mates who are more congenial to you.

"Well, you always put your ashes on your dinner plate . . . so why not eat your dinner out of your ash tray?"

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

When mother came home from down town she caught a glimpse of Frances s...ping throught the back yard, having obviously been playing at the home of a neighbor.

So was ill-prepared for Frances' definite statement that she had been home all the time. "I played right in the yard, as you told me to," she proclaimed virtuously.

There is no use for mother to say, "Now, tell me honestly, did you or did you not leave the yard?" for, having made the false statement, Frances is condemned to stick to it.

Mother made her mistake when she asked a question the answer to which she already knew. She SAW Frances leaving another house and so to ask her if she had stayed at home gave Frances the idea that she didn't know, and so perhaps she had better not admit that she had run over there for a moment. Mother might get mad. She did not foresee that her brief absence from home would seem the more criminal because she lied about it.

Yet mothers tend always to do this; know the truth and yet try to wring a confession from a child so that they can feel even more righteous about punishment. "It wasn't what you did," they can say smugly, "it was because you lied to me."

There is hardly a child but will lie, if given the opportunity to do so and if to tell the truth would seem to carry a heavy penalty. Had mother come home and said, "I saw you coming back from Evelyn's. How did you happen to go there when I asked you to stay at home?" At which Frances would have explained that Evelyn called her up and she ran over just a minute to give her a book she wanted to look at. No real harm there, just a reasonable explanation which any mother would accept. But when a mother, cunningly aware of the act, asks a leading question, it would seem that she were determined to make admitting guilt difficult rather than easy.

Such lies a mother can anticipate, and can thus avoid inspiring the child to lie. For it is typical of children, that young or old, when they feel a tension in the air, they feel punishment imminent and hurry out of its way, taking any course that presents itself.

When any adult knows, or is relatively certain, what act a child has performed, don't say, "Did you do so and so?" and wait, figuratively with whip hand raised to hear the affirmative, but say, "Why did you do so and so?" and go on from there. It only complicates the matter to ask the child of his own volition to put his head in a waiting noose.

My leaflet, "Lying" enumerates the usual reasons for children's falsehoods. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, in care of this newspaper.

Minute Make-Ups

You need only one minute a day to make sure that your skin is soft and smooth. Just spread a thick mask of vanishing cream over throat and face. Leave this on for just one minute by the clock. Then remove it with tissues. The cream carries away all dry, complexion-dulling bits of scaly skin. Your face will feel softer, it will have a mat smoothness to which your makeup will cling for hours.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

DO HAVE SOME MORE CALCIUM

A food supply or diet may seem liberal and varied or "well balanced" and yet unless it includes a substantial amount of milk and green leaf vegetable it may be calcium-poor and hence inadequate to maintain health, growth and good nutrition. Hence, as Prof. Sherman (Chemistry of Food and Nutrition, Macmillan '37) says:

The ordinary mixed diet of Americans and Eurpeans, at least among dwelle.s in cities and towns, is probably more often deficient in calcium than in any other chemical element.

Milk contains calcium in abundance—approximately a gram (15½ grains) in the quart—and in the most assimilable form for infant, child and adult. As the daily requirement of calcium for an infant or a growing child is nearly 10 to 12 grains it becomes more apparent that "a quart of milk a day for every growing child" is not merely a theoretical concept. After full growth and development has been attained (from the age of 18 to twenty-five year) the daily calcium requirement is not so great and perhaps a pint of milk a day is sufficient for an adult.

Skim milk (milk from which the cream has been removed whether by skimming or by the separator) and real buttermilk (the liquid left in churn after churning butter) are practically as good as whole fresh milk as a source of calcium. Cottage or Dutch cheese and indeed every variety of cheese is an excellent source of calcium especially when the diet does not include enough milk.

Second to milk and milk products comes the yolks of egg as a source of calcium in the diet.

Next to milk, cheese and egg yolk, come green leaves especially leaves that are good to eat raw, such as cabbage, lettuce, endives (chicory greens), cress, parsley, onion tops, and cooked greens (considerable calcium is dissolved out in the water during boiling), and this is the reason why a lunch or dinner is not complete without a salad.

There is no convincing evidence that the oxalic acid in certain green leaves (and in other common foods such as cocoa, tea, coffee beets, potatoes, tomatoes, figs strawberries and plums) can do one any serious harm, even if it does tend to interfere with assimilation of calcium.

Besides the foods named, these are good sources of calcium: Fresh string beans, dried beans, peas fresh or dried, peanuts, almonds and other nuts, asparagus, celery, cauliflower, cabbage, kale, collards broccoli, dandelion greens, beet greens, turnip greens, mustard greens, oatmeal, sorghum syrup, maple syrup, dried figs, olives.

An adequate daily supply of calcium is required not only to maintain normal growth and repair but to

(1) regulate excitability of nerve fibres and nerve centres,
(2) maintain vigorous contraction of the heart muscle
(3) diminish permeability of the capillary spaces such as edema, dropsy, inflammatory swellings, hive-like conditions.

Mrs. R. Eaton Speaks to Club

Mrs. Rex. Eaton, associate director of National Selective Service, speaking to the Women's Canadian club at a luncheon meeting Friday in the Macdonald hotel, stressed the importance of the nursing profession in war time.

"A survey in June of this year made by Selective Service, showed that Canadian civilian hospitals were severely strained by shortages in nursing staffs. This was particularly emphasized in mental hospitals and sanitoriums. Throughout the summer the scarcity continued, but an improvement was shown in October, which has been maintained for the last months.

"Compulsory registration of nurses was taken in March, 1943, which showed that there were approximately 52,000 nurses in Canada. In addition we ascertained those who were available in each area for full time or part time work. It was evident that we could not afford any loss of those available.

REFUSE PERMIT

"The National Selective Service immediately instructed local officers to refuse a graduate nurse a permit to work in any other profession than nursing, except on compassionate grounds.

"Nurses and student nurses were not allowed to leave or study outside of Canada. The Canadian Nurses' Association, in co-operation with the Federal Department of Health made efforts to increase the number of student nurses. In 1939, there were 8,416 student nurses, and in the years of the war, more than 11,000 registered.

"Also, married nurses returned to the profession, private duty nurses came back to hospitals, and voluntary workers were of great assistance to nurses and to the domestic staff of hospitals.

CLOSE CO-OPERATION

"Close co-operation is established between the National Selective Service, the Department of National Defence, Department of Health, and the Canadian Nurses' Association, in order to give an exchange of information and advice."

Mrs. Eaton described the way in which women have come into employment, and she said that Canada has followed a policy and control. In 1941 there were 630,000 women employed and women not ordinarily employed were persuaded to help. This was increased later to nearly one million gainfully employed. Largest registration was in highly industralized areas.

Mrs. Eaton said that women from the prairies and maritimes were highly praised for their work in large war plants throughout Canada. She especially referred to 186 teachers who left Edmonton to work at an eastern war plant for the summer months. This group was highly commended by the management, she said.

TEXTILE PLANTS

She explained briefly the textile plant situation, saying that in many cases where textile plants were located, there was a need for women in shell-filling plants and other war industries. Close co-operation was kept between National Selective Service and the WPTB to keep NSS informed when plants were falling behind.

In speaking of post-war plans, Mrs. Eaton said: "While it is necessary to develop plans for re-adjustment of women from war industries to peace time employment, yet nothing must divert energies of women from remaining at their work."

Mrs. Chester Gainer, president of the Edmonton Branch, Women's Canadian Club, introduced the speaker. Seated at the head table with Mrs. Eaton and Mrs. Gainer, were: Mrs. Kate Lyons, Mrs. H. P. Reid, Mrs. Thomas Cox, NS Kathleen Reid, RCAMC, on leave from eastern Canada; Miss Bertha Batterick and Mrs. A. J. Cook.

Debunker

It is surprising how many people believe that many kinds of rocks actually grow, especially if they are in the right kind of soil. Some people will swear that they have known stones to "grow" into boulders. As stones are not living things, they cannot grow, as any biologist knows. Growth is accomplished only by living things. The only way stones can get larger is by the same method that a snowball "grows" when it is rolled in more snow—by the addition of material to the outside. This, of course, is not growth.

Aberdeen Club Has Election

Mrs. Pat. Fletcher was elected president of the Lady Aberdeen League at the annual dinner meeting in the Macdonald hotel Thursday evening.

Dr. Mary Winspear, of the department of English at the University of Alberta, spoke to the meeting on contemporary reading and how to choose books with the idea of recreation and stimulation to the mind. She traced the development of literary people from the middle ages through to the present day. She said four things principally to look for in a writer were: Technique, which he must be able to present; conviction with which he writes whether he writes for love or "hunger"; improvement of your ideas by what he tries to put across; and belief of the writer in his work. She also spoke of how books could be criticized or reviewed by advertising and radio.

40 MEMBERS

Mrs. Cody McPherson, the secretary, reported a membership of 40. Proceeds from the Rossdale skating rink which is operated by the Lady Aberdeen League was turned over to HMCS "Nonsuch" to furnish the Wrens' mess and to help furnish the officers' ward room with particular reference to the officer of the day's cabin. Two private parties were held at "Nonsuch" by the officers, for members of the league and their husbands.

Members of the league assisted at the Stamp Bar, the Navy tag day, and at the dance sponsored by the Navy Mothers' club. Twenty-five ditty bags were sent to sailors, and letters of acknowledgement have already been received by several members of the league.

The operation of the Rossdale rink is again being taken care of by the league. The league is planning on equipping and maintaining the library in the new Colonel Mewburn hospital, which is to be opened within the next two months.

TREASURER

The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Errol Wright. The net proceeds from the Rossdale rink amounted to more than $700 of which $400 was given to the Wrens mess, and $428 to officers for the Ward Room. One hundred and sixteen dollars was spent on ditty bags.

Miss Margaret Gallinger the retiring president, gave a welcome to the new members and the incoming executive and thanked the retiring executive for all its work done during the past year.

New members welcomed were Mrs. Rod McLure, Mrs. Donald Sims, Mrs. L. A. Wynn and Mrs. J Shirriff.

Other officers elected were: first vice-president, Mrs. R. H. Moore; second vice-president, Mrs. H. Bert Fowler; secretary, Mrs. Jack Bolton; treasurer, Mrs. W. G. Montgomery; social and social welfare convener, Mrs. H Bert Fowler war services convener, Mrs R. V Clarke.

The tables were set in white decorated with potted red and pink cyclomens. Seated at the head table were Miss Margaret Gallinger, Dr. Mary Winspear, Mrs. Pat Fletcher, Mrs. Cody McPherson, Mrs. Errol Wright, Mrs H Bert Fowler, and Mrs. E. R. Jones.

Bingo was enjoyed after the meeting. Miss Margaret Gallinger presided.

Varsity Selects Debating Team

The Alberta representative in the McGoun Cup debates were chosen Thursday night at a meeting of the debating society in the Arts building. Eight contestants representing the faculties of arts, education, law, theology, agriculture and pre-medicine took part. Each contestant was allowed a five minute talk on the resolution of the McGoun debates this year: "Resolved that a tolerant attitude should be adopted toward Germany after this war".

The debaters chosen to represent the affirmative side in the debates are A. Eggenberger, a second year student and Art Boorman, who is studying theology. In the event of either of these students being unable to keep part in the debate, Don Cormie, a third year law student will take his place. The affirmative side will remain in Alberta. The negative side, which will be sent to the University of British Columbia to debate, will be represented by Hu Harries, a fourth year agriculture student and Joe Shocter, a second year law student. If either of these students should be unable to take part in the debate Nicholas Karateew will take their place.

Three judges were responsible for the decision, Dr. Walter H. Johns, assistant professor in classics, Dr. D. B. Scott, sessional lecturer in physics and Mr. A. Smith, LLB, of the law department.

Ration Books Show Population Gain

Population in Alberta increased 14,807 in 1944, according to ration book statistics, says C. G. McKee, regional superintendent of rationing, for the Prices Board. At the end of 1944 Alberta's four local ration offices totalled 794,677 ration book holders between the U.S. border and North West Territory, while during the height of the American influx to the north during 1943 there were 779,870 ration book holders.

Mr. McKee explains the difference to be the number of returned Canadian servicemen, their wives and families, and mentions the bumper crop of Alberta babies during the past year.

The 1944 statistics, compared to 1943, submitted by the four ration offices were: Edmonton, 360,057 in 1944, 353,950 in 1943; Calgary, 255,466 in 1944, 250,704 in 1943; Lethbridge, 123,121 in 1944, 122,018 in 1943; Grande Prairie, 56,033 in 1944, 53,198 in 1943.

"Rests Up"

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 12—(AP) — Jefferson Davis Jackson, negro janitor for the museum of natural history and the geological survey at the University of Alabama, asked leave of absence to "rest up." Jack McKinley of Edmonton told Magistrate Harold L. Hawe, KC, Friday morning, that he did not need a registration card because he was in the Army. Army officials stated that McKinley had deserted and wanted to take him off the court's hands. The charge was withdrawn to enable the accused to be handed over to military authorities.

James Delorme who "thought I would put on my cousin's army uniform," was fined $50 or two months, after pleading guilty to unlawfully wearing a uniform.

Louise Berard, listed among those present, denied being intoxicated. The penalty was $20 or 30 days.

Legion Watches Prisoners' Cases

Declaring that evidence at the trial of two German war prisoners charged with assaulting two women in the Edmonton district seems to indicate a decided laxity of supervision of these prisoners, Canadian Legion and other veterans' associations here were Friday contemplating action of protest to Dominion authorities.

Declaring it to be nothing short of "outrageous" that prisoners of war are able to visit freely with residents of Canada, one war veteran said the guilt or innocence of the prisoners on trial was not the issue.

"What does concern Canadians, however, is the kind of supervision that makes such cases possible. Can anyone possibly envision a Canadian prisoner of war in Germany having sufficient liberty for an affair with a German woman? Imagine that happening in the prison camps of Japan."

The matter will be brought before the executive of Edmonton Branch No. 24 of the Canadian Legion, BESL.

CCF Is Charged As Isolationist To an Extreme

CALGARY, Jan. 12—(CP)—Dr D. A. Mackenzie of Banff, whose resignation as the CCF candidate in the federal riding of Calgary West over a month ago was revealed here yesterday, charged the CCF with "political immaturity" and being "isolationist to an extreme" in a prepared statement issued here last night.

The Banff physician was nominated in February, 1944, and in his statement last night said he had had "many rows" with the party since that time.

Dr. Mackenzie said his resignation was written almost a month ago. Nothing was said of it by the Calgary CCF office, although provincial headquarters suggested early this week that something was wrong by dropping Calgary West from the list of constituencies where nominations had been made.

DISCLOSED AT MEETING

It is understood the resignation was disclosed at the annual meeting of the Calgary party association Wednesday night, from which the press was excluded.

"If I have any support to give, it would go to the Labor-Progressive party, Mr. Mackenzie told reporters last night.

"It is the most consistent of all groups in Canada today."

He did not say whether he would accept an LPP candidature in Calgary West or what role he would take in future politics.

Following is Dr. MacKenzie's statement:

"In their political immaturity the CCF are expressing the ideological socialistic beliefs of the Social Democratic movements of the European countries of the last century. Rather than supporting active labor organizations, the CCF represents the hopes of the frustrated small land-owners and small independent business groups.

RESULT IN DIVISION

"Such a policy must inevitably result in a division of these groups whose very unity is of the utmost importance in Canada's present course, in facing the critical current situations and the future post-war problems.

"The party is divorcing itself from all other movements. It is isolationist to an extreme."

His resignation leaves two candidates still in the field, A. L. Smith, KC, for the Progressive Conservatives and Major A. H. Jukes, DSO, OBE, for Social Credit.

Budapest Fight In Final Phase

By BRUCE W. MUNN
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Jan. 12—(BUP)—The Axis defenders of Budapest, decimated by 18 days of violent street fighting, fell back into two narrow pockets on either side of the Danube today after radioing a final desperate appeal for help to two German relief columns stalled 13 miles outside the city.

The desperation of the Axis position was revealed in a radio message sent by the Nazi commander and intercepted by the Soviets.

"It is impossible to hold out any longer", the Nazi said in an SOS beamed to the two relief columns that have been battling vainly for ten days to break through the Soviet siege lines from the west and northwest.

The message hinted at widespread defections among the Hungarian troops in Budapest, who appeared ready to quit unless help arrived immediately.

LONDON STOCKS

LONDON, Jan. 12.—(CP-Reuters)—The continued good war news from all fronts imparted a firm tone to stock markets today and sentiment was generally cheerful. Business, however, was rather less active partly owing to week-end considerations.

Investment buying was resumed this morning with the recent interest in British funds and industrials spreading to British Railways in which gains ranged up to 10 shillings, notable in preference issues.

Entertainment shares were the bright spot of industrials with Decca Record especially favored, rising one shilling to 55 shillings. Irons and steels were in some demand while breweries were harder for choice.

Chicago Grain Markets Rally

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—(AP) — Grain futures markets rallied in late trading today after having held to the off-side most of the session. Oats led the upturn, gaining almost a cent at times.

Strength of the oats market was attributed to commission house buying prompted by the heavy demand for cash oats in the local market where prices are near ceilings.

At the finish, wheat was ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, May 1.64⅛. Corn was ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, May 1.13¾. Oats were ⅛ lower to ⅞ higher, May 70½-⅝. Rye was unchanged to off ⅛, May 1.16⅛-¼. Barley was off ⅛ to 1, May 1.16½.

Wheat and Oats Dominate Trade

WINNIPEG, Jan. 12.—(CP)— Wheat and oats business featured export news today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

The United Kingdom took 300,000 bushels of No. 2 Northern wheat while United States took 150,000 bushels of oats for shipment from the Pacific coast.

In domestic grain dealings shippers purchased 160,000 bushels of feed barley for all rail shipment from the lakehead to Toronto.

Rye trading was erratic in generally light trading but futures mustered enough strength to move above previous closing levels late in the session buying by shippers and outside support.

Closing values were ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher with May at $1.19⅛.

Great Difficulties Seen in Transition From War to Peace

MONTREAL, Jan. 12—(CP)—Morris W. Wilson, president of the Royal Bank of Canada, told shareholders at the annual meeting yesterday "the transition from a war to a peace economy will be a period of great difficulty even under the most favorable conditions."

Gradually there must be absorbed into the peace-time economy of Canada more than 2,000,000 persons now engaged directly in war, he said.

Mr. Wilson said Canada owed her economic development to foreign trade and in the future must expand them further, possibly to double their pre-war volume.
